Eyeballs Are Better Than Border Walls

My rough calculations suggest “extreme vetting” of U.S. visa applicants could be as good as building a wall, and the human and economic costs would be much less, says Stephen Pazan, special counsel at Barket Epstein Kearon Aldea and LoTurco LLP and a former consular officer with the U.S. Department of State. Robert Mueller, the special counsel who is currently trying to frame President Donald Trump, took part in a much earlier FBI frame up that sent four innocent men to prison (I believe these innocent men happened to be on "Death-Row"! ---) for more than 30 years, and resulted in an eventual settlement of more than $100 million for false imprisonment?

<http://trumptrainnews.com/articles/1-the-story-as-we-know>

1. The Story As We Know

What we know is that an FBI protected whistleblower had his home raided by the FBI (despite his whistleblower status) and the judges connected to the case are not releasing any documents related to the raid or what he tipped the presidentially appointed watchdog off to. What we know as of now is that his house was raided and everyone is keeping quiet, raiding a whistleblowers home is very unusual as they are supposed to receive a great degree of protection from any prosecution. The Judges unwillingness to talk is also highly problematic if it was cut and dry shouldn't they give us an answer?

2. The Split Interest of The Judge

There are two judges, in this case, Judge Beth P. Genser who filed to keep the documents sealed and her reason for keeping it as such sealed as well. Then there is Judge Stephanie Gallagher, this is the judge that authorized the raid on the home of the whistleblower. There is a big conflict of interest with Beth P. Genser, she is a Clinton appointee. This conflict of interest is sure to come up in future court cases as it makes for a huge problem in the courtroom.

3. What Information Did He Have?

What information did this whistleblower have that justified a raid on his home? He had already talked to a watchdog and supposedly given up a few bombshells, why raid his house? This foolishness serves the point that the FBI is corrupt beyond belief if they don't release any information vindicating their raid.

4. Criminal Activity in The Clinton Foundation

It is suggested that the information that the whistleblower gave to the watchdog was information related to criminal activity in the Clinton Foundation and Rosatom. Rosatom is the Russian company that bought American Uranium during the Obama administration while Hillary Clinton was Secretary of State. So much for Trump colluding with Russia...

5. Mueller-Tactics

Many have taken notice to the style the raid used on the whistleblower and how it matches up with everything that Mueller has done to those caught up in the Russia Witch Hunt. These two events are not connected (as far as we know) but it shows a problem the FBI has with force when it comes to non-violent suspects. Should Trump look into this gross abuse of authority within the FBI? There is a clear problem here, but the left and the mainstream media doesn't care at all.

Prosecutors lay out volume of evidence collected from Roger Stone's hard drives, email accounts
Katelyn Polantz, CNN

Information the Justice Department collected from Roger Stone's iCloud accounts and email accounts and on computer hardware spans "several years," special counsel Robert Mueller said Thursday. As is required by law, the prosecutors will begin sharing the evidence against Stone that they collected with his legal defense team so he can prepare for a trial.

Over 3,000 more US troops headed to southern border
Ryan Browne and Barbara Starr, CNN

Over 3,000 additional active duty troops will be deployed to the southern US border to bolster security, joining the 2,300 troops already there, several defense officials tell CNN. The Pentagon's decision to not reveal the size of the increase during a hearing before the House Armed Services Committee on Tuesday was slammed by the committee's chairman, Democratic Rep. Adam Smith of Washington.

ISIS could reclaim territory in months without military pressure, warns Pentagon in draft report
Courtney Kube et al., NBC News

A draft Pentagon report warns that without continued pressure, ISIS could regain territory in six to 12 months, according to two U.S. officials familiar with the draft. The finding is in a draft of the Department of Defense Inspector General Quarterly Report about Operation Inherent Resolve that is expected to be released early next week.

Hate crimes in L.A. highest in 10 years, with LGBTQ and African Americans most targeted
Richard Winton, Los Angeles Times

Los Angeles recorded its highest level of reports of hate crimes in a decade, with a nearly 13% increase in 2018 over the year before. Last year, L.A. tallied 289 hate crimes, compared with 256 in 2017, according to LAPD statistics gathered by researchers at Cal State San Bernardino.

US border agency says it's made biggest-ever fentanyl bust
Anita Snow, The Associated Press

U.S. Customs and Border Protection officials announced Thursday their biggest fentanyl bust ever, saying they captured nearly 254 pounds (114 kilograms) of the deadly synthetic opioid from a load of Mexican produce heading into Arizona. The drug was found hidden Saturday morning inside a tractor-trailer after a scan during secondary inspection indicated something else was in the load, Nogales CBP Port Director Michael Humphries said.

Trump, in Interview, Calls Wall Talks 'Waste of Time' and Dismisses Investigations

Peter Baker and Maggie Haberman, The New York Times

A defiant President Trump declared on Thursday that he has all but given up on negotiations with Congress over his border wall and will proceed without lawmakers even as he dismissed any suggestions of wrongdoing in the investigations that have ensnared his associates. In an interview in the Oval Office, Mr. Trump called the talks "a waste of time" and indicated he will most likely take action on his own when they officially end in two weeks.

Trump Optimistic on Trade Deal With China, but May Keep Tariffs Anyway

Alan Rappeport and Mark Landler, The New York Times

President Trump expressed optimism Thursday about reaching a landmark trade deal with China, but said in an interview that he would consider leaving in place some tariffs on Chinese goods even if the two sides strike an agreement. "Without the tariffs, we wouldn't be talking," Mr. Trump said in an interview with The New York Times, shortly after his administration concluded two days of high-level trade talks with Chinese officials. "And I make this point clear to them."

White House Abruptly Canceled Trump's Meeting With Intel Chiefs

Betsy Woodruff and Asawin Suebsaeng, The Daily Beast

The White House abruptly canceled President Donald Trump's daily intelligence briefing on Wednesday, the morning after top intelligence officials testified before Congress, The Daily Beast has learned. Reached for comment, White House press secretary Sarah Huckabee Sanders simply said, "It was moved."

Trump to throw spotlight on abortion in State of the Union

Gabby Orr and Andrew Restuccia, Politico

President Donald Trump is telling conservative allies he wants to incorporate firm anti-abortion language into his State of the Union address Tuesday, and potentially include an anti-abortion figure among his list of invitees, according to four sources familiar with his plans. Trump sees an opening to energize his evangelical supporters and capture moderate voters who administration officials believe may be turned off by widespread coverage of New York's newest abortion law, which allows for termination of some pregnancies after the 24-week mark for health reasons.

"Doubling Down": With Private Care Push, Trump's VA Bucks Lawmakers and Some Veterans Groups
Isaac Arnsdorf, ProPublica

When Congress passed a bill last year to transform the Department of Veterans Affairs, lawmakers said they were getting rid of arbitrary rules for when the government would pay for veterans to see private doctors. Under the old program, veterans could go to the private sector if they would have to wait 30 days or travel 40 miles for care in the VA. Lawmakers and veterans groups, including conservatives, criticized those rules as arbitrary.

'Whistleblower' in White House security clearance office gets suspended
Laura Strickler and Peter Alexander, NBC News

A White House security specialist has been suspended without pay for defying her supervisor Carl Kline, less than a week after NBC News reported Kline approved Jared Kushner for top secret clearance over the objections of career staff. The specialist, Tricia Newbold, had filed a discrimination complaint against Kline three months ago.

Senate

Bernie Sanders Proposes 77 Percent Estate Tax For Billionaires
Maxwell Strachan and Emily Peck, HuffPost

Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) just proposed huge increases to the estate tax, which would reverse decades of cuts that have allowed the nation's richest to establish generations of wealth. Sanders wants to tax billionaires at a top rate of 77 percent when they die, a massive increase from the current rate.

How McConnell is forcing Democrats to side with Trump on Syria

Bryant Harris, Al-Monitor

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., managed to rebuke both President Donald Trump and Democrats with one vote today. The Senate voted 68-23 to advance nonbinding legislation warning against a "precipitous withdrawal" from Syria and Afghanistan.

FEC flags Arizona senator for excessive campaign donations Brian Slodysko, The Associated Press

Arizona Sen. Martha McSally, whose fundraising practices have drawn scrutiny in the past, appears to have accepted more than $270,000 in excessive campaign contributions during the recent midterm campaign, according to the Federal Election Commission. Federal candidates can collect $2,700 from a single donor during a primary election, followed by an additional $2,700 from the same person during the general election.

Debate over Ninth Circuit seats is latest battle in Trump-Senate judicial wars

Niels Lesniewski, Roll Call

The Senate Judiciary Committee's first big battle this year, in the recurring judicial wars, is already taking shape. President Donald Trump announced his intended nominees for three open California-based seats on the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday - and the names do not represent any real compromise with California Democratic Sens. Dianne Feinstein and Kamala Harris.

House

Disclosure of presidential tax returns will be subject of Feb. 7 House hearing

Mike DeBonis, The Washington Post

A House panel is set to examine proposals that would force the public disclosure of presidential and vice-presidential tax returns, a direct challenge from Democrats to President Trump's norm-breaking decision not to reveal his own. The hearing of the House Ways and Means subcommittee on oversight is scheduled for the afternoon of Feb. 7, two days after Trump visits Capitol Hill for his State of the Union address.

Progressive Dems: 'Not Another Dollar' More in DHS Funding Gideon Resnick and Sam Brodey, The Daily Beast

Four freshman progressive House members are throwing a wrench into government funding negotiations, urging their colleagues to reduce spending on the Department of Homeland Security as a bipartisan committee negotiates a way forward for the agency. "Cut, do not increase funding," a bolded section of the "Dear Colleague" letter obtained by The Daily Beast reads.

Reps. Beyer, Lieu ask Mulvaney to immediately revoke Kushner's security clearance Lindsey McPherson, Roll Call

Democratic Reps. Donald S. Beyer of Virginia and Ted Lieu of California sent a letter Thursday to acting White House Chief of Staff Mick Mulvaney asking him to immediately strip senior advisor Jared Kushner of his security clearance. A recent NBC News report revealed that White House security specialists recommended Kushner, President Donald Trump's son-in-law, not be approved for a top secret clearance, but they were overruled by their supervisor.

'Everything stays on the table': 2020 Dems weigh killing the filibuster Burgess Everett and Marianne Levine, Politico

Democrats have a lot of big ideas if they win back the White House and Congress in 2020. But it's not clear they are willing to do a key thing needed to implement them: eliminating the filibuster.

Republicans Seize on Late-Term Abortion as a Potent 2020 Issue Vivian Wang, The New York Times

When New York expanded abortion rights last week for the first time in 49 years, Democrats across the state were exultant. Now, that jubilation has been met with an equal and opposite reaction.

States

Pennsylvania Democrats rocked by indictment of top political boss
Holly Otterbein, Politico

The indictment of one of Pennsylvania's most powerful behind-the-scenes political players is rattling Democrats in a state that's expected to be a key 2020 battleground. The bombshell charges announced Wednesday against building trades leader John "Johnny Doc" Dougherty - a Philadelphia labor kingpin whose union is the single biggest independent source of campaign funding in the state - threaten to sap statehouse and congressional Democrats of a mega-donor, slow the party's momentum in the Philadelphia suburbs, and sideline the man who orchestrated the Democratic takeover of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Beshear to lawmakers: Kentucky's fetal heartbeat abortion bill is unconstitutional
Jack Brammer, Lexington Herald-Leader

Kentucky Attorney General Andy Beshear sent the legislature's top two leaders a letter Thursday informing them that he thinks a bill in this year's General Assembly that would ban abortions if a fetal heartbeat is detected is unconstitutional. "The Supreme Court of the United States has uniformly held - in no fewer than eight separate decisions - that neither Congress nor a state legislature can ban abortions before viability," Beshear said in the letter.

NRA shows signs of decline, even in Trump's America
Kate Ackley, Roll Call

The influence of the National Rifle Association, the nation's highest-profile Second Amendment-rights organization and a longtime powerhouse against gun-control laws, is showing signs of potential decline. The NRA's own tax forms show a dip in revenue.

Adelsons pumped $500K into Trump aides' legal defense fund
Maggie Severns, Politico

Billionaire Republican donors Sheldon and Miriam Adelson gave $500,000 to a legal defense fund set up to help aides to President Donald Trump that are involved in special counsel Robert Mueller's investigation. The Adelsons each contributed $250,000 on Oct. 1 to the Patriot Legal Expense Fund Trust, which was set up last year to help campaign aides pay for legal bills related to the investigation.

Opinions, Editorials and Perspectives

A Senate Warning to Mr. Trump

The Editorial Board, The Wall Street Journal

Donald Trump's alleged isolationist takeover of the Republican Party seems to have been greatly exaggerated. The GOP-controlled Senate on Thursday voted 68-23 to warn Mr. Trump against a premature withdrawal of U.S. troops from Syria and Afghanistan, and the sponsor of the effort was no less than Majority Leader Mitch McConnell.

Fake News About Abortion in Virginia

Michelle Goldberg, The New York Times

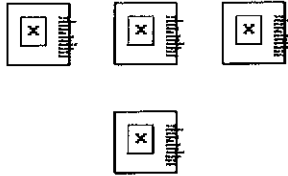

Under current law in Virginia, third-trimester abortions are permitted when a woman's physician and two other doctors certify that continuing a pregnancy would result in a mother's death, or "substantially and irretrievably impair the mental or physical health of the woman." This week Kathy Tran, a Democrat in Virginia's House of Delegates, testified in favor of a bill that would end the requirement for two extra doctors to sign off on such abortions, and strike the words "substantially and irretrievably" from the existing law.

The Democrats' choice: The midterm elections and the road to 2020

William A. Galston and Clara Hendrickson, Brookings

The 2016 presidential election gave Democrats a painful reminder that the path to the White House runs through the rough terrain of the Electoral College. Despite enjoying a popular vote margin of nearly 3 million, the Democratic ticket won only 20 states with 232 electoral votes, compared to the 30 states and 306 electoral votes won by Donald Trump and Mike Pence.

- Congress is set to vote today on legislation that would fund the government through Sept. 30 with just $1.375 billion for border barriers - far short of the $5.7 billion President Donald Trump sought for his proposed wall along the U.S.-Mexico border. The Senate is expected to vote first (a single senator could object and cause a delay), followed by a final vote in the House tonight that would send the measure to Trump, who's expected to sign it and seek additional border wall money elsewhere. (Bloomberg)
- In a 248-177 vote, the House passed legislation aimed at withdrawing American support for the Saudi Arabia-backed war in Yemen in a rebuke to Trump's foreign policy in the region. Similar legislation has passed the Senate before and is likely to pass again, possibly setting up the first veto of Trump's presidency. (NBC News)
- A federal judge in Washington ruled that former Trump campaign chairman Paul Manafort lied to special counsel Robert Mueller's prosecutors about contacts with a Russian aide who's believed to have ties to Russian intelligence. The ruling mean Mueller's office "is no longer bound" by a plea agreement with Manafort, which could add years to the 69-year-old's prison sentence. (The Washington Post)

U.S. Tax Revenues Fall, Deficit Widens in Wake of New Tax Law

Kate Davidson, The Wall Street Journal

Federal tax revenue declined 0.4% in 2018, the first full calendar year under the new tax law, despite robust economic growth and the lowest unemployment rate in nearly five decades. The Treasury Department said Wednesday federal revenue totaled $3.33 trillion last year, while federal spending totaled $4.2 trillion, a 4.4% increase from the previous year.

Push for Medicare buy-in picks up with '50 and over' bill Alice Miranda Ollstein, Politico

House and Senate Democrats unveiled a plan Wednesday that would allow anyone over age 50 to buy into Medicare - an incremental step to expand health coverage beyond Obamacare's gains that offers an alternative to the ambitious restructuring progressives envision in their push for Medicare for All. "I have always supported universal health care but we are not there yet," said Tammy Baldwin (D-Wis.), one of the co-sponsors.

Being An Immigration Judge Was Their Dream. Under Trump, It Became Untenable.

Hamed Aleaziz, BuzzFeed News

Rebecca Jamil was sitting in a nondescript hotel ballroom in suburban Virginia when she realized that her dream job - being an immigration judge - was no longer tenable. It was June 11, 2018, and then-attorney general Jeff Sessions, her boss, was speaking to a room packed with immigration judges, running through his list of usual complaints over what was, in his estimation, a broken asylum system.

Trump Puts Best Face on Border Deal, as Aides Try to Assuage an Angry Right

Peter Baker and Maggie Haberman, The New York Times

In pursuit of a wall, President Trump ran into one. A single-minded drive to force Congress to finance his signature campaign promise has left Mr.

Donald Trump's diplomatic 'dumpster fire' on Iran

David M. Herszenhorn and Nahal Toosi, Politico

It is the Iran conference where uttering the word Iran is almost taboo. It is the Middle East peace gathering with utterly no chance of forging peace in the Middle East.

U.S. Revives Secret Program to Sabotage Iranian Missiles and Rockets

David E. Sanger and William J. Broad, The New York Times

The Trump White House has accelerated a secret American program to sabotage Iran's missiles and rockets, according to current and former administration officials, who described it as part of an expanding campaign by the United States to undercut Tehran's military and isolate its economy. Officials said it was impossible to measure precisely the success of the classified program, which has never been publicly acknowledged.

Trump's DHS Guts Task Forces Protecting Elections From Foreign Meddling

Erin Banco and Betsy Woodruff, The Daily Beast

Two teams of federal officials assembled to fight foreign election interference are being dramatically downsized, according to three current and former Department of Homeland Security officials. And now, those sources say they fear the department won't prepare adequately for election threats in 2020.

'Whistleblower' seeks protection after sounding alarm over White House security clearances

Laura Strickler, NBC News

A White House security specialist is seeking official whistleblower protection from the federal government after raising concerns about "unwarranted security clearances" for administration officials, including

Jared Kushner, according to two sources familiar with the matter. The specialist, Tricia Newbold, filed the whistleblower complaint less than two weeks after she was suspended without pay for defying her supervisor, Carl Kline.

DOJ Employees Sent A Letter Highlighting The Lack Of Gender Diversity In Top Positions
Zoe Tillman, BuzzFeed News

An internal Justice Department gender equality group sent a letter to management Tuesday highlighting the lack of gender diversity in senior positions. The letter, sent by the DOJ Gender Equality Network, or DOJ GEN, includes a chart of 50 senior jobs across the department, including the three highest-ranking spots - attorney general, deputy attorney general, and associate attorney general - as well as senior posts in eight offices that handle litigation, including the Criminal Division, Civil Division, Civil Rights Division, and Environment and Natural Resources Division.

Senate

Senators target Russia with massive bipartisan bill
Michelle Kosinski and Zachary Cohen, CNN

A bipartisan group of senators, frustrated by what they see as the Trump administration's failure to adequately punish Russia for its broad spectrum of bad behavior - are taking matters into their own hands. They've proposed a massive bill that aims to, among other things, force the administration to assess whether Russia is a state sponsor of terror.

'He was in his face': Trump fumes over abortion, courts evangelicals
Gabby Orr, Politico

The night before last week's National Prayer Breakfast, President Donald Trump was hosting religious leaders and lawmakers for dinner at the White House when he spotted Democratic Senator Chris Coons - and pounced. Trump confronted the Delaware lawmaker - who attended the event as the Prayer Breakfast's official Democratic co-chair - over the issue of abortion, creating a tense scene in the White House's Blue Room, according to three sources familiar with the exchange.

House

House Judiciary Committee chairman wants Acting Attorney General Matthew Whitaker to address 'incomplete' testimony Benjamin Siegel, ABC News

The top Democrat on the House Judiciary Committee sent a letter to Acting Attorney General Matthew Whitaker Wednesday saying his testimony last week to the panel was "incomplete" and "contradicted by other evidence." Rep. Jerry Nadler, D-New York, who presided over the contentious oversight hearing with the acting attorney general, said Democrats believe Whitaker may have misled the committee under oath about his communications with the White House.

House votes to take stand against anti-Semitism in an unexpected way Lindsey McPherson, Roll Call

The House overwhelmingly voted Wednesday to take a stand against anti-Semitism in all forms and did it in an unexpected way. The vote was surprising because the language was added to an unrelated resolution on removing U.S. armed forces assisting the Saudi-led coalition fighting in Yemen through a Republican motion to recommit.

House panel advances bill to expand background checks for gun sales Cristina Marcos, The Hill

The House Judiciary Committee on Wednesday advanced legislation that would require universal background checks for gun purchases in the latest sign that Democrats are prioritizing gun control in the first days of their majority. Lawmakers on the panel voted along party lines to approve the bill, 23-15.

Rep. Adam Kinzinger deployed to active duty on southern border Jamie Ehrlich, CNN

Rep. Adam Kinzinger is being deployed to the southern border with an Air Force National Guard Unit, according to a statement by his communications director. "Earlier this week, Congressman Kinzinger was deployed to the U.S.-Mexico border with his Air National Guard unit, and is serving on active duty in his capacity as Lieutenant Colonel.

O'Rourke meets with Schumer to discuss 2020 Senate bid Nolan D. McCaskill, Politico

Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer met with former Texas Rep. Beto O'Rourke last week to discuss a possible 2020 Senate campaign against GOP Sen. John Cornyn, according to a source familiar with the meeting. O'Rourke, a Democrat who lost narrowly against Sen. Ted Cruz in 2018, is considering running for president and hasn't publicly discussed running again for Senate in 2020. But he also hasn't ruled it out

Rep. Tim Ryan 'seriously considering' running for president Katie Bernard, CNN

Ohio Rep. Tim Ryan is "seriously considering" a run for president and doesn't have a timeline for making his decision, he told CNN's Erin Burnett Wednesday night. Though he is not sure when he will make a decision, Ryan said on "Erin Burnett Out Front" Wednesday night that he is looking at making a bid.

Democrats to launch new voter database with Dean at the helm Bill Barrow, The Associated Press

Democratic National Committee Chairman Tom Perez is declaring a major victory ahead of the 2020 presidential election, with the help of one of his most well-known predecessors. Howard Dean, the one-time presidential candidate, former Vermont governor and ex-DNC chairman, is set to head a new data exchange operation that Democrats hope puts them back on par with Republicans in the never-ending race to use voter data to drive Americans to the polls.

A Florida Mayor Is Thinking About Running For President And It's Not Andrew Gillum Ryan C. Brooks, The Daily Beast

A virtually unheard-of mayor in Florida is seriously considering running for president, and he's getting help from former staffers who helped launched former Tallahassee mayor Andrew Gillum's campaign for governor. Wayne Messam, 44, is the owner of a construction firm and serves as the mostly ceremonial mayor of Miramar, a South Florida city of 140,000.

Democrats swear off big money, but will it hurt their 2020 White House chances?

Amanda Becker, Reuters

Senator Elizabeth Warren issued a pointed campaign finance challenge to fellow Democratic U.S. presidential contenders at her official 2020 White House election launch. "I'm not taking a dime of PAC money in this campaign. I'm not taking a single check from a federal lobbyist. I'm not taking applications from billionaires who want to run a Super PAC on my behalf. And I challenge every other candidate who asks for your vote in this primary to say exactly the same thing," Warren said during her rally last Saturday in Massachusetts.

States

Bill Waller Jr. to run for governor of Mississippi
Geoff Pender, Mississippi Clarion-Ledger

Retired longtime state Supreme Court Chief Justice Bill Waller Jr., son of a former governor, is planning a gubernatorial run this year as a Republican, sources involved in his planning confirmed. One of Waller's main campaign themes is expected to be that he is the only Republican candidate who can beat Democratic Attorney General Jim Hood - who remains very popular in an otherwise deep red state - in the race for governor.

Rachael Rollins prepared to investigate Boston-based assault allegations against Va. lieutenant governor
Maria Cramer and Michael Levenson, The Boston Globe

Suffolk District Attorney Rachael Rollins said Tuesday that she is ready to investigate allegations that Virginia's lieutenant governor sexually assaulted a woman at the 2004 Democratic National Convention in Boston, raising the prospect of a criminal probe that could deepen the extraordinary political turmoil engulfing Virginia. Rollins, a Democrat who took office in January, said she e-mailed a letter to lawyers for Vanessa Tyson last Thursday informing them that if Tyson wants to file a criminal complaint against Lieutenant Governor Justin Fairfax, prosecutors in Rollins's office will investigate.

Advocacy

Zinke teaming up with Lewandowski at D.C. lobbying firm Theodoric Meyer, Politico

Ryan Zinke, who resigned as interior secretary last year amid scandal, is teaming up with Corey Lewandowski, President Donald Trump's former campaign manager, to work as senior advisers at Washington lobbying firm Turnberry Solutions. Jason Osborne, a partner at Turnberry, said Lewandowski won't do any work that would require him to register as a lobbyist, but said that Zinke was likely to do so.

NARAL blasts Sinema for support of Trump judicial nominee Marianne Levine, Politico

Sen. Kyrsten Sinema (D-Ariz.) came under fire Wednesday from an abortion rights group for her support of President Donald Trump's judicial nominee Michael Liburdi. In remarks to the Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday, Sinema praised Liburdi's credentials, describing the nominee as a "well-respected attorney" and noting his role as general counsel for Republican Arizona Governor Doug Ducey. Sinema added that while she did not share "all of the same political beliefs" as Liburdi, he was still "professionally qualified" for the role.

Opinions, Editorials and Perspectives

Trump must hold out for a good deal with China Sen. Marco Rubio, The Washington Post

As American officials continue talks with their counterparts in Beijing to end the U.S.-China trade dispute, they should resist the temptation to cut a bad deal. At a minimum, they should strive to achieve the goals that President Trump outlined late last year: meaningful structural changes regarding forced technology transfers, intellectual-property theft, non-tariff barriers and cybersecurity.

My Social Security 2100 Act shows that Social Security is affordable

Rep. John Larson, USA Today

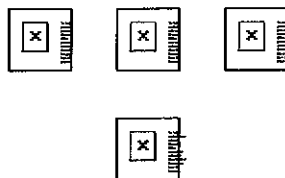

Expanding and enhancing Social Security isn't just about helping out seniors, it's about providing economic security for all generations. From security in your golden years, to disability protection, to an economic lifeline for a spouse or child who has lost a loved one, Social Security is there for you.

Poll: A Year After Parkland, Urgency For New Gun Restrictions Declines

Domenico Montanaro, NPR News

One year after the school shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Fla., the urgency for new gun restrictions has declined, but roughly half the country is concerned a mass shooting could happen at a school in their community, a new NPR/PBS NewsHour/Marist poll finds. In the immediate aftermath of the mass shooting that killed 17 people on Valentine's Day, 71 percent of Americans said laws covering the sale of firearms should be stricter.

Federal Funding Subrecipient Conflict of Interest Annual Affirmation of Compliance - Board of Directors

I have received and carefully read the BBBSA Conflict of Interest Policy and have considered the literal expression of the policy and its intent. By signing this affirmation, I confirm that I understand and will comply with the Policy. I further understand that BBBSA is a nonprofit organization and that, in order to maintain its federal tax exemption, it must engage primarily in activities that accomplish one or more of its tax-exempt purposes without personal gain (other than by salary) by board members or staff.

I further understand that where a potential conflict exists between the interests of BBBSA and a board member with respect to a proposed action, policy or transaction, the Board of Directors shall consider the matter during a board meeting at which there is a quorum.

I understand that approval by the disinterested members of the Board of Directors shall be by vote of a majority of directors in attendance. An interested party shall not be counted for purposes of determining a quorum or for determining what constitutes a majority vote. Meeting minutes will reflect that a conflict disclosure was made to the board, the vote taken and, where applicable, the abstention from voting and participation by the interested party. Whenever possible, the minutes should frame the decision of the board in such a way that it provides guidance for consideration of future conflict of interest situations.

Except as otherwise indicated below, I hereby state that I do not have any conflict of interest, financial or otherwise, that may be seen as competing with the interests of BBBSA, nor does any relative or associate have such a potential conflict of interest, nor shall I, any relative, or associate benefit from any action, policy, or transaction made by BBBSA in a manner that has not been previously disclosed.

If any situation arises in the future that I think may involve me in a conflict of interest, I will make a prompt and full written disclosure of the circumstances.

Federal Vendor Code of Conduct

Updated November 2018

A Message from the CEO

Our mission at Big Brothers Big Sisters of America is to provide children facing adversity with strong and enduring, professionally supported, one-to-one relationships that change their lives for the better, forever. Our core values at BBBSA reflect and support our mission. They are Integrity, Excellence, Teamwork, and Respect—and they are non-negotiable. We owe nothing less to our affiliate agencies; to our donors; to our federal, corporate, and foundation partners; and to the children and volunteers we serve in every state across the country.

We expect our contractors and suppliers of goods and services to share and adhere to these same core values and to make the right ethical decisions, every time, no matter what. While no document can address every ethical issue we may face, this Federal Vendor Code of Conduct sets forth our ethical guidelines and expectations for vendors or contractors that BBBSA hires using federal funds. You are responsible for understanding and following these guidelines and for making decisions that are consistent with our BBBSA values and commitment to maintaining high standards of ethical conduct. Noncompliance can affect and potentially end BBBSA's business relationship with a federally-funded contractor or supplier.

The work we do together is critical to the success of our mission. We thank you for your commitment to our values and our mission.

Sincerely,

Pam Iorio
President & CEO

Introduction

Purpose of the Federal Vendor Code of Conduct

This Federal Vendor Code of Conduct (the "Vendor Code") affirms our high ethical and professional conduct standards for any vendors, contractors, consultants, sub-contractors, and other non-employee workers who are doing business with BBBSA and paid using federal funds ("Federal Vendors"). No code or policy can anticipate every situation that might arise, but the Vendor Code is intended to provide you with: 1) guidance on how to recognize and deal with ethical issues in keeping with BBBSA's values; and 2) explain the mechanisms for reporting unethical conduct.

Our Values

As the nation's pre-eminent youth mentoring organization, we hold ourselves and our employees to high standards of ethics, values, performance, and professionalism. These values drive everything we do:

Integrity

- Demonstrating honesty and transparency in all of our dealings
- Upholding exemplary ethical principles
- Making decisions that reflect high standards of proper stewardship and accountability of resources

Excellence

- Being accountable for our actions
- Delivering every product and service of the national office in an outstanding manner
- Developing a quality workforce
- Showing pride in our efforts and in the organization for which we work

Teamwork

- Working in full cooperation and mutual support that inspires trust and respect to achieve a common goal
- Creating a spirit of service

Respect

- Honoring diversity and inclusion
- Showing consideration and regard for individuals and institutions
- Being tolerant and appreciative
- Accepting individual differences

Questions and Reporting

An important part of your commitment to our values and to our ethical standards is your obligation to let us know about actual or suspected violations of the Vendor Code, suspected violations of laws or regulations, or other improper conduct. If you have legitimate, good-faith concerns about something, we want you to let us know so we can address it. To report an actual or suspected violation:

- Report it directly to our Ethics Officer. You can reach her by email, phone, or mail at:

Alais Griffin
General Counsel & Ethics Officer
Big Brothers Big Sisters of America
2202 North Westshore Blvd., Suite 455
Tampa, FL 33607
(813) 440-3526
alais.griffin@bbbsa.org

- Use the confidential Ethics Hotline to report a violation by telephone or the Internet. The number is 1-800-963-5541 and the reporting link is www.ethicspoint.com (select BBBSA). The Ethics Hotline is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and is maintained by a third-party vendor. Ethics Hotline reports may be made anonymously.

We also encourage you to bring any questions regarding this Vendor Code, any particular circumstances that might arise, or any other ethics questions to the Ethics Officer.

Violations of this Vendor Code

Compliance with this Vendor Code is mandatory for all Federal Vendors, which, as defined above, includes vendors, contractors, consultants, their sub-contractors, and all non-employee workers providing federally-funded or supported services for or on behalf of BBBSA. We reserve the right to conduct investigations and audits, including Federal Vendor site visits, to verify that a Federal Vendor's business operations meet the standards in this Vendor Code. Federal Vendors and their employees must cooperate in the event of an audit or investigation.

Violations of the Vendor Code may result in cancellation of the business or agreement between the Federal Vendor and BBBSA. This includes, but is not limited to, the following violations:

- Engaging in misuse of federal grant funds or any other funds entrusted to BBBSA
- Failing to disclose to our BBBSA information concerning the misuse of federal grant funds or any other funds entrusted to BBBSA
- Authorizing or directly participating in actions that violate the Vendor Code
- Concealing a violation or failing to report a violation of the Vendor Code
- Refusing to cooperate in the investigation of a violation of the Vendor Code
- Retaliating, directly or indirectly, against an individual for the good faith reporting of a violation of the Vendor Code

Financial Stewardship

Financial Stewardship

BBBSA is a steward of every dollar that is entrusted to our organization and to the work we do. Whether those funds come from federal grants, foundation grants, corporate donations, individual gifts, or affiliate fees, we are obligated to protect the funds and ensure that they are used as intended and in accordance with all laws, regulations, and requirements. This includes using BBBSA resources responsibly and only for legitimate business purposes, and protecting BBBSA resources from fraud (actual or suspected), waste, abuse, theft, or any other misuse.

Definitions and Examples of Misuse of Funds

- Fraud is intentional deception, e.g., to result in financial or personal gain.
- Waste is the loss or misuse of organization resources that results from deficient practices, system controls, or decisions.
- Abuse is the intentional, wrongful, or improper use of resources or misuse of rank, position, or authority that causes the loss or misuse of resources, such as tools, vehicles, computers, copy machines, etc.
- Theft (or misappropriation) is the act of taking something from someone unlawfully.

Improper financial stewardship by Federal Vendors can take many forms and affect many types of business records. The following are only a few examples:

- Improperly billing BBBSA for work that was not performed
- Intentionally making false or misleading entries in books, records, reports, invoices, timesheets, or expense reports, or aiding others in doing so
- Falsifying documents or certifications required by BBBSA procedures, regulations, or funders, including providing your signature as a quality assurance check without completing the inspection process
- Failing to follow applicable procedures, authorization, and documentation, including federal grant requirements

Conference Policy & Procedures

Federal Vendors who conduct conferences, meetings, or training sessions are responsible for reviewing and adhering to BBBSA's Conference Policy & Procedures.

Federal Grant Reporting Obligations

While BBBSA will not tolerate misuse of any of its funds, we have a specific obligation to promptly report all credible evidence of misuse of federal funds to appropriate government officials, including federal agencies that awarded the funds, the DOJ OIG and/or other federal Inspectors General.

BBBSA will not disburse any federal funds to any Federal Vendor unless the Federal Vendor has certified, during that year, that it is in compliance with this Vendor Code and all applicable rules governing the use of federal grant funds.

BBBSA Resources

General BBBSA Resources

Federal Vendors are not permitted to use BBBSA's name or logo, trademarks or other intellectual property without BBBSA's express written consent. Federal Vendors must also follow copyright laws and honor and protect intellectual property rights of third parties. Federal Vendors and their employees are prohibited from using BBBSA resources or facilities to solicit or distribute information or materials not connected with regular BBBSA work.

Supporting Documents

Federal Vendors must submit invoices for compensation. Each invoice must explicitly agree to the original contract(s) with BBBSA in terms of both services provided and compensation, including hours worked. BBBSA will only reimburse Federal Vendors for pre-approved expenses that are supported by contemporaneous source documentation, including paid receipts or invoices.

Confidential and Proprietary Information

Federal Vendors that are provided access to sensitive information must enter into and abide by the terms of a Confidentiality Agreement with BBBSA. Federal Vendors must protect such information from intentional or accidental disclosure. They must carefully restrict physical and electronic access to sensitive information and only share it with others who have an approved business need to know.

Some Ways to Protect Sensitive Information

- Do not use photos of our Bigs and Littles without appropriate permissions and release forms from BBBSA
- Do not release BBBSA business information that has not been made public to private individuals, organizations, or government bodies unless demanded by legal process
- Do not use confidential information obtained in the course of your affiliation with BBBSA for the purpose of advancing any private business interest or for other personal or business gain
- Refer requests for confidential or sensitive information to BBBSA
- Refer requests for information from the media to BBBSA
- Keep sensitive files and materials in locked drawers

Conflicts of Interest

BBBSA employees, officers, directors, Federal Vendors, and other interested parties must never permit their personal interests to conflict or appear to conflict with the best interests of our organization. This conflict of interest policy is designed to help you identify and avoid situations that present potential conflicts of interest. You are required to disclose both potential and actual conflicts of interests to BBBSA so BBBSA can appropriately manage conflicts in accordance with legal requirements and BBBSA's commitment to accountability and transparency in our operations. This conflict of interest policy supplements but does not replace federal and state laws governing conflicts of interest applicable to BBBSA. If you have any questions about the policy, please ask our Ethics Officer.

Interested Parties

In this policy, we call a person with a conflict of interest an "interested party." An "interested party" is any person serving as a BBBSA officer, employee, member of the BBBSA Board of Directors, major donor to BBBSA, agent of BBBSA, or anyone else in a position of control over BBBSA, who has a personal interest that conflicts with BBBSA's interest. It includes a family member of an interested party, which is a spouse/partner, parent, spouse/partner's parent, child or spouse/partner of child, brother, sister, or spouse/partner of a brother or sister, or anyone (other than a domestic employee) who shares such person's home, and any organization which employs or is about to employ any of the parties listed above.

What is a Conflict of Interest?

A conflict of interest arises when an interested party may have to choose between what is in its best interests (financial or otherwise) and what is in BBBSA's interests. Situations or transactions arising out of a conflict of interest can result in either inappropriate financial gain to the interested party or the appearance of a lack of integrity or transparency in BBBSA's decision-making process. Both results are damaging to BBBSA and must be avoided.

There are too many examples of real or perceived conflicts of interest that could involve a Federal Vendor, but here are some common situations in which they are likely:

- BBBSA contracts to purchase or lease goods, services, or properties from a Federal Vendor that is fully or partially owned or controlled by an interested party.
- The Federal Vendor employs or offer employment to an interested party.
- The Federal Vendor provides gifts to an interested party to obtain or retain business.
- A Federal Vendor seeks to use confidential information obtained from BBBSA for its own benefit (not necessarily financial) or for the benefit of a third party.
- A Federal Vendor is involved in developing a Request for Proposal and seeks to bid on the work covered by the RFP

Prohibition on Conflicts of Interest

Under no circumstances shall a BBBSA employee, officer, director, agent, or other interested party take part in or have an interest in the selection, award, or administration of any contract supported by a federal award if a conflict of interest, real or apparent, exists.

Gifts from Vendors

BBBSA officers, employees, and agents are prohibited from soliciting or accepting gifts, favors, gratuities, or anything of monetary value from any vendors, contractors, or parties to subcontracts, that are supported by or paid from a federal grant or award, including potential Federal Vendors and subcontractors, unless the gifts are unsolicited and of very nominal value.

Federal Vendors must never offer or provide personal incentives or rewards to BBBSA employees in an effort to influence a business decision such as a procurement award or contract. Providing cash or a cash equivalent of any kind to a BBBSA employee is strictly prohibited.

Disclosure of Potential Conflicts of Interest

Federal Vendors are under a continuing obligation to disclose both actual and potential conflicts of interest as soon as they are known or reasonably should be known. Annually, Federal Vendors will be asked to disclose any interests that could give rise to a conflict of interest through the form at the back of this Vendor Code. An actual conflict of interest does not need to be present to constitute a violation. Federal Vendors must also avoid or disclose activities that create an appearance of a conflict of interest.

Disclosure statements shall be provided to the Ethics Officer. The Ethics Officer shall file copies of all Federal Vendor disclosure statements in official Federal Vendor files.

Where a potential or actual conflict exists between a Federal Vendor's interests and the interests of BBBSA with respect to a specific proposed action, policy, or transaction, the BBBSA General Counsel/Ethics Officer, Chief Financial Officer, and/or the BBBSA CEO will consider the matter and determine whether it is permissible under federal grant regulations and in the best interests of BBBSA. Where the potential or actual conflict involves the CEO or a board member, the BBBSA Board of Directors shall review and address the matter.

In all cases, decisions involving a conflict will only be made by disinterested persons, although the interested party may be asked to provide factual information and/or to answer questions.

Violations of Conflict of Interest Policy

Violations of the Conflict of Interest Policy are cause for immediate termination of a Federal Vendor relationship where BBBSA determines such action is appropriate.

Political Activities and Contributions

BBBSA employees, officers, directors, or agents are not authorized to make a political contribution on behalf of BBBSA or in BBBSA's name. For example, BBBSA employees, officers, directors, or agents are precluded from co-hosting a BBBSA event at which a political candidate is endorsed, conducting a BBBSA fundraising event for a politician, or wearing a BBBSA shirt to a political fundraising event. Federal Vendors must refrain from asking BBBSA employees, officers, directors, or agents to do anything that would violate this policy.

Government Relations

Unless you are a registered lobbyist for BBBSA, Federal Vendors are prohibited from interacting with public officials, including government employees and representatives, elected or appointed officials in foreign, federal, state and local governments, and other oversight agencies, on BBBSA's behalf. Some of these public officials are responsible for laws, regulations, rules, policies, and grants that affect us. We must ensure that our interactions with public officials comply with the letter and the spirit of the laws, regulations, and rules that cover these interactions. You may be required to submit a Lobbying Certification form and Disclosure of Lobbying Activities form to BBBSA as part of the contract process.

Registered Lobbyists

Registered lobbyists for BBBSA are prohibited from using any federal appropriated funds for influencing or attempting to influence an officer or employee of any federal agency, a Member of Congress, an officer or employee of Congress, or an employee of a Member of Congress.

In addition, you must be truthful, courteous, and professional in communicating with public officials, and provide them with factually correct, current, and accurate information. We will not tolerate any behavior by a Federal Vendor that creates or contributes to a situation in which the responsibilities, judgment, or objectivity of a public official becomes compromised. This includes, but is not limited to:

- Offering, promising, or giving anything of value to any public official in to assist you or BBBSA in obtaining or retaining business or to obtain any improper advantage
- Disregarding rules that apply to business courtesies given to public officials
- Causing a public official or other interested person to violate any law, regulation, or rule applicable to such public official or interested person

Safety

Drug-Free Workplace

BBBSA is committed to providing an alcohol and drug free workplace for its employees and complies with the provisions of the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988 (Public Law 100-690). All Federal Vendors are expected to adhere to our commitment to this Act.

Seat Belt Use

BBBSA encourages all Federal Vendors to wear seat belts while driving company-owned, rented, or personal vehicles while they are on BBBSA-related projects or jobs.

Text Messaging While Driving

BBBSA enforces the federal ban on text messaging while driving company-owned, rented, or Government-owned vehicles; while driving privately-owned vehicles while on official Government business; or when performing any work for or on behalf of the Government. Federal Vendors should adhere to applicable regulations regarding text messaging while driving.

Ethical Commitment Pledge

Each of us is responsible for creating, promoting, and maintaining a culture that supports our values and encourages ethical conduct and compliance with the law. By signing this Vendor Code, you are making the following ethical commitment pledges.

Federal Vendor Pledge

As a BBBSA Federal Vendor, I will:

- Uphold the law
- Comply with BBBSA's values and policies and procedures
- Be honest, transparent, and avoid and/or disclose potential or actual conflicts of interest
- Report, in good faith, actual or suspected ethical misconduct
- Seek clarification and guidance on ethics, compliance, and legal issues when unclear about what to do
- Inform BBBSA immediately if I am excluded from participation in any government program, including but not limited to, if I am placed on the Excluded Parties List System in the federal government System for Award Management
- Cooperate with BBBSA investigations by providing complete and truthful information and related documentation

Appendix 1 – Whistleblower Policy

General

All BBBSA directors, officers, and employees must comply with the Code of Conduct, the handbook, and all BBBSA policies and procedures in the conduct of their duties and responsibilities. As BBBSA directors, officers, and employees, we must act in an ethical manner in fulfilling our responsibilities, and comply with all applicable laws and regulations.

Reporting Responsibility

It is the responsibility of all directors, officers, and employees to report violations or suspected violations of our Code of Conduct or our policies and procedures or actual or suspected illegal or unethical behavior in accordance with this Whistleblower Policy. Such reports must be made in good faith.

Violations may include, but are not limited to, deliberate violation of a law, rule, statute, or regulation; misuse of funds; discrimination or harassment; hostile work environment; noncompliance with federal grant requirements; falsification of contracts, reports, or records; conflict of interest; unauthorized disclosure of confidential information; use of donor funds not as donors directed; intentional misstatement of business and financial transactions; and other violation of policy.

No Retaliation

This Whistleblower Policy is intended to encourage and enable employees and others to raise serious concerns within the organization prior to seeking resolution outside the organization.

No individual who in good faith reports a violation of the Code of Conduct or other suspected unethical or unlawful behavior, serves as a witness, or otherwise participates in the investigation regarding the suspected unethical or unlawful behavior, shall suffer harassment, retaliation or an adverse employment consequence. An employee who retaliates against someone who has reported a violation in good faith is subject to discipline up to and including termination of employment, and any other penalties as determined by law. Violations of this policy can negate severance agreements.

Reporting Violations

We have an open-door policy. We suggest that employees share their questions, concerns, suggestions or complaints with someone in the organization who can address them properly. In most cases, an employee's supervisor is in the best position to address an area of concern.

For various reasons, however, an employee may not be comfortable speaking with his/her supervisor or may not be satisfied with the supervisor's response. In such cases, the employee is encouraged to speak with the Ethics Officer or anyone in management whom he or she is comfortable in approaching. Supervisors are required to report suspected violations of our Code of Conduct or our policies and procedures or suspected illegal or unethical behavior to HR and the General Counsel/Ethics Officer, who have specific and exclusive responsibility to investigate all reported violations. For suspected fraud, employees should contact HR, the General Counsel/Ethics Officer, the CFO, or the CEO directly.

While we encourage employees to use the avenues available within the organization to raise serious concerns, we realize that there may be occasions in which an employee prefers to use outside reporting. Any employee who wants to remain anonymous and report suspicions of violations of the Code of Conduct or our policies and procedures or suspected illegal or unethical behavior may contact EthicsPoint, a third-party provider of confidential, anonymous reporting services. To report a suspected violation to EthicsPoint, call 800-963-5541 or go to www.ethicspoint.com and select BBBSA.

If you are not entirely satisfied with how your report has been handled, please contact the General Counsel/Ethics Officer or CEO so that s/he can look into your concerns immediately. Your appeal should be in writing to help ensure clarity. While we encourage you to be detailed, it is sufficient to say “I wish to appeal my complaint of suspected illegal/unethical behavior.” You may also appeal by using the ethics hotline.

Investigations and Compliance

The General Counsel, who also serves as our Ethics Officer, will ensure compliance and is responsible for investigating and resolving all reported complaints and allegations concerning violations of our Code of Conduct or our policies and procedures or suspected illegal or unethical behavior. The General Counsel shall advise the CEO.

Upon receipt of a report of suspected unethical or unlawful behavior, BBBSA will conduct a prompt and fair investigation. The allegations reported will be disclosed only to the extent necessary to conduct the investigation/take corrective action. BBBSA will then take corrective action with respect to any employee or non-employee who has engaged in illegal, unethical, and/or inappropriate behavior, including discipline up to and including termination of the employment or other relationship. As stated above, the organization will not tolerate any unlawful retaliation against anyone who makes a good-faith complaint, serves as a witness, or otherwise participates in the investigation.

Accounting and Auditing Matters

The Chair of the Audit Committee, or his/her Board designee, shall address all reported concerns or complaints regarding accounting practices, internal controls, or auditing. Unless it is inappropriate for any reason, the General Counsel/Ethics Officer and the CEO shall work with the Committee Chair until the matter is resolved.

If you believe that any employee of the organization or any other individual or entity performing work for or with the organization has engaged in illegal, unethical, or improper activity with regard to the securities laws, accounting standards, accounting controls, or auditing practices, immediately contact the General Counsel/Ethics Officer, the CEO, or report it through EthicsPoint.

Acting in Good Faith

Anyone filing a complaint on a violation or suspected violation of our Code of Conduct or our policies and procedures or suspected illegal or unethical behavior must be acting in good faith and have reasonable grounds for believing the disclosed information is a violation. Any allegations that prove to have been made maliciously or knowingly to be false will be viewed as a serious disciplinary offense.

Confidentiality of Your Identity

Violations or suspected violations may be submitted on a confidential basis by the complainant or may be submitted anonymously. Reports of violations or suspected violations will be kept confidential to the extent possible, consistent with the need to conduct an adequate investigation.

Notification of Employee Protections under 41 U.S.C. § 4172

In addition to the protections in our Code of Conduct and Whistleblower Policy, as a federal grant recipient, BBBSA is subject to 41 U.S.C. § 4172, which provides that no employee of a grantee, or sub-grantee, may be discharged, demoted, or otherwise discriminated against for disclosing information that an employee reasonably believes is evidence of:

- Gross mismanagement of a federal contract or grant;
- Gross waste of federal funds;
- An abuse of authority relating to a federal contract or grant (defined as an arbitrary and capricious exercise of authority that is inconsistent with the mission of the federal awarding agency concerned or the successful performance of a contract or grant of such agency);
- A substantial and specific danger to public health or safety; or
- A violation of law, rule, or regulation related to a federal contract (including the competition for or negotiation of a contract) or grant.

To qualify under the statute, the employee's disclosure of suspected wrongdoing must be made to one of the following:

- A management official or other employee of BBBSA or the sub-grantee who has the responsibility to investigate, discover, or address misconduct; or
- The Inspector General of the federal awarding agency (for example, the Office of Inspector General of the U.S. Department of Justice);
- An employee of the federal awarding agency who is responsible for contract or grant oversight or management (for example, at the Office of Justice Programs);
- An authorized official of the U.S. Department of Justice or other law enforcement agency, a Member of Congress or a representative of a committee of Congress, or the Government Accountability Office.

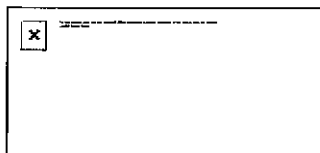

Submitting Complaints Pursuant to 41 U.S.C. 4712

As emphasized in the BBBSA Code of Conduct and this Whistleblower Policy, BBBSA is committed to operating with high ethical standards, integrity, and accountability. It does not tolerate retaliation against individuals who report compliance concerns in good faith. As set forth in this Policy, there are several resources available to individuals who have compliance concerns or who believe they have been retaliated against. These include your supervisor, HR, the General Counsel/Ethics Officer, or anyone in management. And, as set forth above, any employee who wants to remain anonymous may also contact EthicsPoint by calling 800-963-5541 or go to www.ethicspoint.com and select BBBSA.

If an employee believes that he or she has been subjected to reprisal for disclosing wrongdoing, the employee may also submit a complaint to the federal awarding agency's Office of Inspector General within three years of the date on which the alleged reprisal took place. The Inspector General will generally perform an investigation and submit a report to the federal agency, which then determines whether sufficient basis exists to conclude that discrimination occurred. If the agency determines that discrimination has occurred, the statute sets out remedies that may be available, including ordering a grantee reverse the reprisal, reinstate the employee with compensatory damages and employment benefits, and/or pay costs reasonably incurred by the whistleblower in bringing the complaint. A grantee has the right to appeal any agency order to the relevant United States court. Additional details, including procedures for filing complaints, may be found in the full statute 41 U.S.C. 4712.

Tom, serious congrats are in order – so fantastic about the Democratic National Convention.

This of course elevates MKE to a new status. I am currently serving as the Wisconsin state chair for ACTEC, the American College of Trust & Estate Counsel, which holds three national meetings per year – a winter meeting (in March), a summer meeting (June or July) and a fall meeting (September or October). See the attached brochures as examples of past meetings. Our national meetings typically attract 500 to 600 participants, most of whom come with a guest, thus pushing the attendee number over 1,000.

I have been in contact with ACTEC re considering Milwaukee for its summer or fall meeting in 2023 (they have already booked dates for meetings through 2022). Is there someone in the Mayor's office who focuses on these kinds of things, or is it best to contact Tim Sheehy's office?

Sorry I missed the lunch in December – have been appropriately rebuked by Mike. I'll be sure to make the lunch this summer.

THE AMERICAN COLLEGE OF TRUST AND ESTATE COUNSEL

2018 SUMMER MEETING

The Fairmont Chicago | Chicago, Illinois
Thursday, June 21 through Sunday, June 24, 2018

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

April 2018

Dear ACTEC Fellows,

The Fairmont Chicago, Millennium Park is the site of the ACTEC 2018 Summer Meeting on June 21 – 24.

From the moment you step outside the door of the Fairmont, you will be immersed in Chicago. From museums, theaters, river and lake cruises, restaurants, and shopping, to strolling through one of Chicago's 570 parks, there is no shortage of activities to delight, educate, and entertain.

Registration and room reservation information for the Summer Meeting was announced in an All Fellows email in early April. Meeting information, including this brochure, is now online on the 2018 Summer Meeting Calendar page. We have consolidated our help documents and videos, including meeting registration guides, into an online help library at actec.org/actec-help-desk.

Steve Akers and the Program Committee have planned noteworthy CLE seminars. The not-to-be-missed Stand-Alone Program, The Life Cycle of a Business Entity, on Wednesday and Thursday will reveal the morphing of our practice from Estate Planner to Business Counselor. Detailed session descriptions begin on page 6. The Summer Seminar on Saturday, Are The Kids Alright?, will discuss the complicated rights of children as to estates and trusts as the family unit and technology evolve. Details begin on page 10.

Special events that are open to all registered guests include the President's Welcome Dinner, which will take us on a culinary tour of Chicago's famous neighborhoods, a presentation by the Chicago Architecture Foundation, and Books After Breakfast. As usual, tours and outings that represent a slice of all Chicago has to offer are available beginning on page 17. For those who wish to explore the city on their own, at their own pace, Chicago's top attractions have been packaged together at a significant savings with CityPass, which offers VIP admission to the most iconic attractions in the city and is valid for 9 consecutive days.

On Saturday evening, the optional event will be at the Mid-America Club, which has wonderful views in all directions. Be prepared to "LOL" with a performance by the Second City Comedy Troupe, following drinks and dinner. Beth and I have enjoyed planning a great meeting in a great city and we look forward to seeing you soon.

MEETING REGISTRATION

Registrations must be completed either online or by submitting the paper registration form, which is available on the Summer Meeting Calendar Page.

Meeting registration will close on Friday, June 1.

Meeting registration fees include: meeting registration costs; the President's Welcome Dinner Friday evening; the breakfast buffets Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday; the Spouse/Guest Program; and Books After Breakfast.

REGISTRATION

All meeting attendees are required to pay the meeting registration fee, including Fellows who plan to attend a committee meeting and/or the Saturday Professional Program session only. The meeting registration fee is required for spouses, guests, teens, and children who plan to attend meals, special events, tours, and/or athletic activities.

The meeting registration fee will be waived for professional program speakers. Meeting registration fees for speakers' spouses, guests, teens, or children will not be waived. Fellows elected to ACTEC in October 2017 (Nashville, TN) or March 2018 (San Antonio, TX) are entitled to waive the registration fee for either the 2018 Summer Meeting or the 2018 Fall Meeting. A discount code for newly elected Fellows was sent via email by ACTEC, and professional program speakers received a link via email to the Speakers' Registration form. Retroactive discounts may cause you to lose your place on tours and at optional events.

EARLY-BIRD DISCOUNT

ACTEC Fellows, spouses, and adult family members receive a $100 early-bird discount (teens and children $25) for registrations received by or postmarked on or before Friday, May 18. This discount will be automatically applied when registering online.

MEETING REGISTRATION ONLINE

On Thursday, May 3, Fellows may complete their registrations (adding on committee meetings, tours, and events) and add on their spouse and guest registrations.

To register online and pay by check, select the "Bill Me" option. A confirmation/invoice email will be automatically sent after completing the registration process. Check payments mailed to the ACTEC office should be sent via FedEx or UPS to ensure timely delivery. Please note that additions to registrations cannot be made until outstanding payments have been processed.

MEETING REGISTRATION BY MAIL

Complete the meeting registration forms, including payment details, and mail to:

The American College of Trust and Estate Counsel
2018 Summer Meeting
901 15th Street, NW, Suite 525
Washington, DC 20005

Registrations mailed directly to the ACTEC office should be sent via FedEx or UPS to ensure timely delivery. Please note that additions to registrations cannot be made until outstanding payments have been processed.

LATE MEETING REGISTRATION AND ADDITIONS TO EXISTING REGISTRATIONS

Meeting registrations received by ACTEC after the deadline will be charged an additional $50 per person (applies to registrations submitted online, by email, mail, or onsite). Meeting attendees may register or add onto existing registrations onsite after the registration deadline.

MEETING CANCELLATIONS

Meeting cancellations and registration fee refund requests must be submitted in writing to ACTEC before Friday, June 1 at summer2018@actec.org.

A cancellation fee of $100 per person will be deducted from the refund (not to exceed $200 per family).

Please contact the hotel directly for guest room cancellations.

MEETING REGISTRATION REDUCTIONS OR REFUNDS

No reductions or refunds are available to meeting attendees who do not participate in special events or activities included in the meeting registration fee.

REGISTRATION

TOUR REGISTRATION

Meeting attendees must register to participate in tours (additional fees apply). Tour registrations received after the deadline will be charged an additional $10 per tour, per person. Advance tour registration is recommended as tours are capped at a maximum number of participants, and many sell out early.

TOUR CANCELLATIONS

Tour registration fees are refundable in full if cancelled by the deadline. Refunds will not be issued after the deadline unless the tour reservation can be resold. A $10 service fee applies to resold tours. Tour registration fees will be refunded if the minimum number of participants required to operate a tour is not met and the tour is cancelled. If the number of participants exceeds the maximum number of participants permitted, fees for overbooked participants will be refunded. Tour tickets are non-transferable unless authorized by the ACTEC registration desk.

THE LIFE CYCLE OF A BUSINESS ENTITY

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW TO ADVISE YOUR CLIENTS IN BUSINESS MATTERS

This not-to-be missed stand-alone program will navigate the entire life cycle of a business entity. From formation and choice of entity, to operations and governance, to generational transfer or sale, the panels will discuss the legal, tax, and practical considerations of advising businesses and their owners. Presenters will drill down into special topics like entity-ownership by trusts, structuring compensation, specific industry concerns, and more. The panels will use a hypothetical family business to guide attendees through every stage of the business. Sample forms and checklists will be provided to assist practitioners.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20 (DAY ONE)

1:00 PM – 2:45 PM

Session 1: Getting Started; Choice of Entity; Formation of Entity

SUMMER SEMINAR: ARE THE KIDS ALRIGHT?

Modern and Practical Challenges of Minors in Estates and Trusts

Saturday, June 23

8:00 AM – 12:05 PM

As the family unit and technology change—not always in unison—the rights of children as to estates and trusts have become more complicated, which in turn impacts planning and estate and trust administration. How do we structure appropriate provisions for guardians, custodians, and trustees?

Litigation follows when planning is not adequate. This hotbed of controversy includes: adopted children, stepchildren, descendants unknown to or ignored by the decedent, children not born of a traditional marriage, embryonic children, those conceived or born posthumously, and adopted adults. Controversy can also arise if and when parents have the right to inherit, even if they have abused or abandoned the children.

Join the panelists of the Professional Program as they explore these hot issues.

Session 1: Who(se) Are You?

8:00 AM – 9:15 AM

Advances in assisted reproduction technology and changing social views of how a parent-child relationship is created have come together to change the legal meaning of parentage and the creation of family relationships. A family or the fiduciary might encounter adult adoption, equitable parentage, multiple parents, frozen embryos, or surrogate parenting. We will begin a discussion of how these developments might change our explanations to our clients and the drafting of their instruments.

SUMMER SEMINAR

Session 2: Navigating Between the Hard-Knock Life and Easy Street When Passing Assets to Children

9:25 AM – 10:40 AM

Your children can be your pride and joy. They can also be your heirs, legatees, and beneficiaries, even as minors. Does your client intend to leave Little Orphan Annie, or the next Richie Rich? This panel will address the rights of surviving children to receive property from intestate estates as well as whether, when, and how to pass property effectively to children through wills, trusts, beneficiary designations, and will substitutes, and how property received by a minor is managed, either through a guardianship or conservatorship, or through trusts designed for the child's benefit.

Speakers:

Jane Gorham Ditelberg, Chicago, IL (Moderator)

The Honorable Christine Butts, Houston, TX

Judge James G. Riley (Ret.), FMS Law Group LLC, Chicago, IL

10:40 AM – 10:50 AM Break

Session 3: (Not Your or) My Generation: Litigation Issues Involving Children

10:50 AM – 12:05 PM

Most clients who engage in planning want to benefit future generations. Members of those future generations are frequently minors and young adults, which always creates unique circumstances, but more so when the governing trust or estate is embroiled in litigation. The panelists will discuss these situations, with topics including virtual representation, the role of trust protectors, proving heirship through DNA testing, the role of guardians ad litem, representing young adults, emancipation of minors, and dealing with parents who live off of their minor children.

Speakers:

Raymond Joseph Koenig, III, Chicago, IL (Moderator)

Shane Kelley, Fort Lauderdale, FL

Robert N. Sacks, Los Angeles, CA

SPOUSE AND ADULT GUEST PROGRAM: "RISE OF THE SKYSCRAPER" BY THE CHICAGO ARCHITECTURE FOUNDATION

Friday, June 22

9:00 AM – 10:00 AM

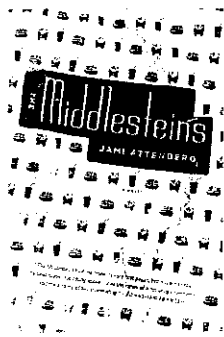

*BNY Mellon Wealth Management
is pleased to sponsor this event.*

This PowerPoint lecture focuses on prominent historic and modern skyscrapers in Chicago. The presentation begins with Chicago's early development and then proceeds to look at the work of its first great architects: William LeBaron Jenney, Burnham & Root, and Adler & Sullivan. The program traces their influence up through the work of contemporaries such as Mies van der Rohe and Helmut Jahn, designers of some of the most recent masterpieces. Among the many structures presented are the Marquette Building and its Tiffany lobby, the Rookery Building and its atrium renovation by Frank Lloyd Wright, and the Reliance Building, which was converted into today's Alise Hotel.

BOOKS AFTER BREAKFAST: "THE MIDDLESTEINS" BY JAMI ATTENBERG

Saturday, June 23

9:00 AM – 10:30 AM

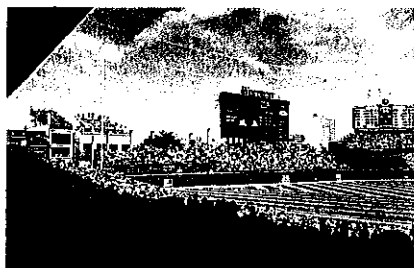

Facilitated by Beth Fox

Edie Middlestein's obsession with food is going to kill her. After her husband abandons the family, it's up to her grown children to get her back in shape. Set in the Andersonville neighborhood of Chicago, Attenberg's dramedy is one of the funniest books ever written about Chicago, and an insightful look at both contemporary Jewish family life and America's cultural obsession with food in the 21st century.

*BNY Mellon Wealth Management
is pleased to sponsor this event.*

LA DODGERS VS. CHICAGO CUBS

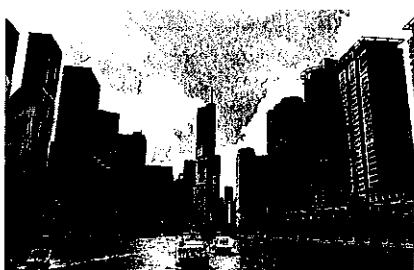

Wednesday, June 20

1:20 PM

For those who may be coming to Chicago early and want to see a baseball game, tickets can be purchased online.

ARCHITECTURE RIVER CRUISE

Deloitte is pleased to sponsor the tour on Saturday

Wednesday, June 20 and Saturday, June 23

$65

1:30 PM – 3:30 PM (15-minute walk)

 Locals consider Chicago an “outdoor museum of architecture” and say that the best way to really see the city’s profile is on a Chicago River architectural cruise. As depicted by a specially trained architectural guide, hear the history of how the city was transformed from a trading post to one of the most recognizable skylines in the world with more than fifty world-famous structures by notable architects, all from the unique vantage point of the Chicago River. Travel on the same river that Father Marquette, Louis Joliet, and Jean Baptiste Point du Sable used for their explorations.

Suggested attire: Comfortable clothing and closed-toe shoes, a light, hooded jacket, sunglasses, hat or visor, sunscreen

TOURS

GUIDED RUN IN GRANT PARK

Thursday, June 21 and Saturday, June 23

6:00 AM – 7:00 AM

 Enjoy a guided group run through some of Grant Park's most notable features including Millennium Park, Maggie Daley Park, Buckingham Fountain, the Museum Campus, and more. Whether you're a veteran marathoner or walker, the Fairmont staff invite you to join them in the hotel lobby for a group run.

Inclusions: Guided run of Grant Park, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Activity level: Must be moderately fit without physical limitations; able to walk/run a few miles

FAIRMONT FARMERS MARKET FINDS

Thursday, June 21

$200

7:00 AM – 1:30 PM (10-minute transfer)

 This fun and interactive class competition will involve the Fairmont chefs. First, we will shop for the freshest and best ingredients that Chicago's Green City Market has to offer. Next, we will return to the hotel and have a small reception while learning how to butcher a whole pig and/or a whole fish. Then, we will be separated into three different groups who will compete in creating the best hot appetizer and salad, entree, or dessert.

Inclusions: Transportation, chef guided tour of the farmers market, brunch reception, butchering class, cooking competition, lunch, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

ARCHITECTURE & LOBBIES WALKING TOUR

Thursday, June 21

9:00 AM – 11:00 AM

 This walking tour will visit Chicago's hidden gems of the architecture world. A highlight is a red imperial and Spanish pink marble curtain-walled building topped by a two-story, double-cross copper gable roof. The elegant lobby features Italian marble walls and a 45-foot arched, bronze-framed entryway. Designed by Burnham and Root, the picturesque Rookery was originally completed in 1888. Adding to its impressive stature, Frank Lloyd Wright redesigned the stunning two-story, sky lit lobby in 1905. Meticulously renovated and maintained, the Rookery stands as one of the most highly recognized addresses in all of Chicago. Did you know Chicago is home to the largest Tiffany-stained glass dome in the world? The Chicago Cultural Center is one of the city's ten most popular attractions and is considered one of the most comprehensive arts showcases in the United States. Taking up an entire city block, it is physically massive. One could spend hours admiring the architectural splendor of this incredible gem, with masonry walls faced with Bedford Blue limestone on a granite base, and is designed in a generally neoclassical style with Italian Renaissance elements.

Suggested attire: Comfortable clothing and closed-toe walking shoes, sunglasses, hat or visor, sunscreen

Inclusions: Guided architecture walking tour, taxes, and gratuities

Activity level: Must be moderately fit without physical limitations; ability to stand/walk for several hours

CHICAGO CITY OVERVIEW TOUR WITH A VISIT TO WRIGLEY FIELD

Sterling Foundation Management LLC is pleased to sponsor this tour.

Thursday, June 21

1:00 PM – 4:00 PM

☛ On this motor coach tour, experience the famous landmarks that give Chicago its heartbeat, from the skyscrapers that form the Chicago skyline to the major parks that fill the city with green space—Grant, Lincoln, and Millennium Parks—to a behind the scenes tour of Wrigley Field. See the sites that have made the Windy City famous!

Inclusions: Transportation and motor coach tour of Chicago, inside tour of Wrigley Field, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

HIGHLIGHTS AND BEHIND-THE-SCENES GUIDED TOUR OF THE ART INSTITUTE OF CHICAGO

Phillips is pleased to sponsor this tour.

Thursday, June 21

$95

1:30 PM – 4:30 PM (10-minute transfer)

☛ Enjoy an escorted tour of this great institution that includes the highlights, as well as Adler and Sullivan's exquisite Trading Room, the magnificent America stained-glass windows by Marc Chagall, and the spectacular galleries of the new Ada Rice Wing. Learn about the philanthropic gifts from Bertha and Potter Palmer, the Lannan Foundation, and the Edlis-Neeson Foundation; then finish with a behind-the-scenes tour in the department of photography.

Inclusions: Transportation, admission to the Art Institute with a guided tour, taxes, and gratuities

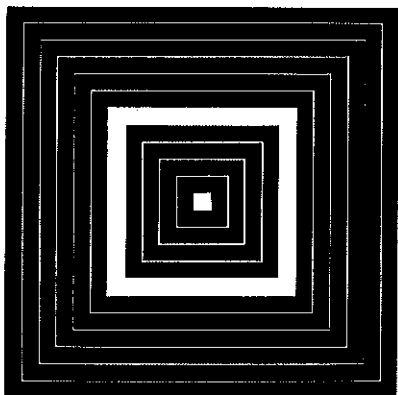

Activity Level: This tour is wheelchair accessible with advance notice to Dylah Wallenius, dewallenius@actec.org

SOTHEBY'S PRIVATE COLLECTIONS VIEWING AND TOUR OF THE MUSEUM OF CONTEMPORARY ART WITH LUNCH

Friday, June 22

$175

10:30 AM – 3:30 PM (10-minute transfer)

 This combination tour, coordinated by our friends at Sotheby's, starts with exclusive access to two local Chicagoans' extensive private collections, both housed in early 20th Century landmark buildings on East Lake Shore Drive. The first collection focuses on art from the 1960s to today, with an emphasis on minimal art. Artists in the collection include Ellsworth Kelly, Yayoi Kusama, Brice Marden, Cy Twombly, Andy Warhol, South American concrete art, and German contemporary photography. The second collection focuses on modern masters with art from the 1950s and beyond, with paintings and sculptures by Willem de Kooning, Mark Rothko, Robert Motherwell, Philip Guston, Ad Reinhardt, Jean Dubuffet, Robert Ryman, Agnes Martin, Chuck Close, Andy Warhol, and Alexander Calder. The final stop will be for lunch in the private dining room of Marisol at the Museum of Contemporary Art, followed by a curator-led tour of the MCA, which exhibits new and experimental work by artists in all media.

Inclusions: Transportation, tour of two private collections not open to the public, lunch, admission to the Museum of Contemporary Art with a curator-led tour, taxes, and gratuities

CHICAGO FOOD WALKING TOUR

Friday, June 22

$125

11:00 AM – 2:00 PM (30-minute transfer)

 This walking tour visits seven Chicago food tasting locations within the epicurean hot-spot Near North area. Between tastings, experience the life of a Chicagoan as you stroll the bustling tree-lined streets of the Gold Coast and Old Town while hearing about the area's architectural gems, beautiful gardens, historic mansions, backdoor venues, and hidden parks.

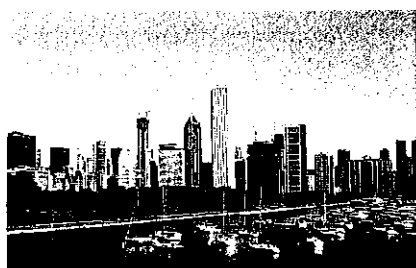

Suggested attire: Comfortable clothing and closed-toe walking shoes, sunglasses, hat or visor, sunscreen

Inclusions: Transportation, guided walking tour, multiple food samplings and vendor demonstrations, taxes, and gratuities

Activity level: Must be moderately fit without physical limitations; ability to stand/walk for several hours

Deloitte is pleased to sponsor this event

LAKEFRONT BIKE TOUR

Sterling Foundation Management LLC is pleased to sponsor this tour.

Friday, June 22

$125

2:00 PM – 4:30 PM (10-minute transfer)

SP Consistently rated as one of Chicago's best sightseeing tours (along with the architectural river cruise), this tour is a unique way to enjoy this beautiful city. This guided adventure will give you a glimpse at how Chicagoans enjoy their beautiful city. Venture down North Avenue Beach, one of the Windy City's most popular public beaches, featuring white sand, water sports, restaurants, and the clear fresh water of Lake Michigan. The sprawling Lakefront Trail is an 18-mile, paved bike and walking path that straddles the shore of Lake Michigan.

Inclusions: Transportation, helmet, guided bike tour, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities. Ponchos provided if it rains.

Activity level: Must be able to ride a bike for 2 hours on a path that is paved with some sand/gravel.

FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT AND UNITY TEMPLE IN OAK PARK WITH LUNCH

Phillips is pleased to sponsor this tour.

Saturday, June 23

$190

11:00 AM – 4:00 PM (30-minute transfer)

SP In 1889, 22-year-old Frank Lloyd Wright, lacking both formal training and an academic degree, began a quiet movement in the Oak Park house he designed and built for his growing family. As his fame grew, the movement became a revolution, and the residence expanded into an office, and then a workshop and studio in which to test the astonishing new style. From this home, his imaginative art and daring designs became world famous. Wright called his new movement the "Prairie School." More than a century later, it ranks as America's most influential architectural expression.

A family style lunch will be served at chef-owned Obsessed Kitchen in Oak Park, a global cuisine restaurant that utilizes locally sourced ingredients.

Inclusions: Transportation, guided tour of Frank Lloyd Wright home and studio, lunch, taxes, and gratuities

HOTEL

The Fairmont Chicago, Millennium Park introduces its classic award-winning service to the contemporary luxury experience in downtown Chicago. With lake, park, or city views, the elegant furnishings of the recently renovated 420 sq. ft. rooms offer a neutral lens with which to view the bustling city below. Decorated in subtle earth tones and pops of color, accommodations include marble bathrooms, 42" HDTV, bathrobes, separate soaking tub and stand up shower, and luxury designer bath amenities.

ACTEC meeting attendees must first register to attend the ACTEC Summer Meeting in order to make room reservations at the hotel. Confirmation to attend the 2018 Summer Meeting must be received prior to reserving hotel rooms at ACTEC group rates.

2018 SUMMER MEETING HOTEL

The Fairmont Chicago

ACTEC Rates starting at $272 (+ 17.4% tax)
Reservations must be made by May 31st.

The link for reservations will be included in the Hotel Reservation email sent in conjunction with your Meeting Registration purchase confirmation email.

If for some reason you do not receive the ACTEC rate or have been told that a room is unavailable, please follow the directions listed in the hotel information email to be placed on the waitlist. This will allow us to work with the hotel and advocate for Fellows as rooms become available. Should you wish to speak to a member of the ACTEC staff regarding your reservation, please email Laura.Contestable@actec.org.

As soon as you register online, even if you have chosen the “Bill Me” option and plan to pay by check, you will receive both an invoice/confirmation email and secondary email with the link to book your room reservation. Please note that it may take up to 15 to 20 minutes for the email to reach your inbox.

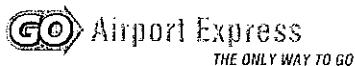

If you have any difficulty registering online or accessing the private side of the ACTEC website, please remember that you need to use your username (E-mail address) and password. Please contact Chris Richards, Systems Administrator, at webmaster@actec.org or call 202-683-6506 for assistance.

Friday, May 18 is the deadline to receive Early-Bird Registration Discounts of $100 for Fellows, spouses, and adult family members; the discount is $25 for teens and children. The Early-Bird Discount will be automatically deducted during the online registration process and will be available to those Fellows completing their preliminary registration.

Questions: Claire Novak, ACTEC Meetings Registrar, at summer2018@actec.org.

TRANSPORTATION

Chicago International O'Hare Airport (ORD) is 18 miles from The Fairmont Chicago. ORD is a major hub with hundreds of direct flights daily. Chicago Midway International Airport (MDW) is 12 miles southwest and has dozens of direct flights daily. Taxi cab, Uber, car, and shuttle services are readily available. Taxi fare is $50-60 one way, depending on traffic. Chicago's public transit system is an effective way to move around the city. The El (Metra Train) from both O'Hare (Blue Line) and Midway (Orange Line) to downtown is just $5. For more information, visit transitchicago.com.

*We have been offered a 20% discount on airport travel.

Meeting Registration Online

Fellows may register for the meeting and pay by credit card online. Visit www.actec.org/events/2017-summer-meeting/ (login required) to register for the Summer Meeting and the Professional Program (Stand-Alone and Seminar). Separate program registration is required for the Stand Alone Program. To obtain a user name and password to login, email webmaster@actec.org.

To register online and pay by check, select the "bill me" option. An autoreply confirmation/invoice will be sent after successfully completing registration.

Meeting Registration by Email

Complete the meeting registration forms, including payment details, and email to summer2017@actec.org.

Meeting Registration by Mail

Complete the meeting registration forms, including payment details, and mail to:

The American College of Trust and Estate Counsel
2017 Summer Meeting
901 15th Street, NW, Suite 525
Washington, DC 20005

Registrations mailed directly to the ACTEC office should be sent via FedEx or UPS to ensure timely delivery.

Late Meeting Registration

Meeting registrations received by ACTEC after the meeting registration deadline will be charged an additional $50 per person (applies to registrations submitted online, by email, mail, or onsite.) Meeting attendees may register onsite after the registration deadline.

Meeting Registration Reductions or Refunds

No reductions or refunds are available to meeting attendees who do not participate in special events or activities included in the meeting registration fee.

Meeting Cancellations

Meeting cancellations and registration fee refund requests must be submitted in writing to ACTEC before the registration deadline at summer2017@actec.org.

A cancellation fee of $100 per person will be deducted from the refund (not to exceed $200 per family).

Tour Registration

Meeting attendees must register to participate in tours (additional fees apply.) Tour registrations received after the meeting registration deadline will be charged an additional $10 per tour, per person. Advance tour registration is recommended as tours are capped at a maximum number of participants, and often sell out early.

Tour Cancellations

Tour registration fees are refundable in full if canceled by the meeting registration deadline. Refunds will not be issued after the deadline unless the tour reservation can be resold. A $10 service fee applies to resold tours. Tour registration fees will be refunded if the minimum number of participants required to operate a tour is not met and the tour is canceled. If the number of participants exceeds the maximum number of participants permitted, fees for overbooked participants will be refunded. Tour tickets are non-transferable unless authorized by the ACTEC registration desk.

TRAVEL

Air and Ground Transportation

Seattle-Tacoma International Airport (SEA), the largest airport in the Pacific Northwest region, is located approximately 12 miles from the Fairmont Olympic Hotel in downtown Seattle.

SEA is served by all major airlines and is the main hub for Alaska Airlines and a hub and international gateway for Delta Air Lines.

Ground Transportation

Car rental: All rental car companies at SEA operate at a separate rental car facility, with dedicated shuttle buses operating on a 24-hour-a-day schedule. Two passenger pick-up areas are located outside baggage claim at the north and south ends of the main terminal.

ACTEC meeting attendees receive a discounted car rental rate with AVIS. To reserve, visit www.avis.com or call (800) 230-4898. The AVIS Worldwide Discount Number (AWD) for ACTEC is J944921.

Link Light Rail: Sound Transit's Link Light Rail extends from the city of SeaTac to the University of Washington with stops in South Seattle neighborhoods, the stadium district, the International District/Chinatown and downtown locations. SeaTac/Airport Station is an easy walk from the airport baggage claim.

The Link Light Rail service runs from 5:00 AM to 1:00 AM, Monday through Saturday and 6:00 AM to midnight on Sundays. Trains arrive and depart every 6 to 15 minutes, depending on the time of day.

Taxis and Shuttles: Taxi stands are on the 3rd floor of the parking garage with taxis waiting. Sedans and 8-10 passenger vans are also available.

Taxi and shuttle services accept MasterCard, American Express, VISA and Discover credit cards.

Rideshare (Lyft, Uber, Wingz): Lyft, Uber and Wingz now provide services at SEA. After scheduling your ride, proceed to the parking garage Ground Transportation Plaza on the 3rd floor. Follow the signs to the TNC/Rideshare (Lyft, Uber, Wingz) pickup area in Sections I & J.

Weather and Attire

Seattle averages a daily maximum temperature for June that's between 68 and 73 °F (20 to 23 °C). The minimum temperature usually falls between 52 and 54 °F (11 to 12 °C). Some rain is likely (but not inevitable in June), so a hooded rain jacket is advisable (or if you want folks to know you're from somewhere else, bring an umbrella).

Business casual attire is appropriate for summer meeting events unless otherwise noted. Special event invitations will include attire recommendations, if applicable. Jackets, sweaters, or wraps are recommended in case of heavily air-conditioned hotel meeting rooms, restaurants, or evenings outdoors.

HOTEL

Meeting registration must be confirmed prior to accessing the link to reserve hotel guest rooms at the ACTEC discounted rates. Registration for the meeting does not guarantee ACTEC discounted rates. Visit www.actec.org/events/2017-summer-meeting (login required to obtain a username and password, email webmaster@actec.org.)

The Fairmont Olympic Hotel

The recently renovated Fairmont Olympic Hotel has redefined downtown Seattle sophistication. Built in 1924, the city's premier hotel offers nearly a century of luxury service standards, while melding classic elegance with mid-century modern room décor. New rooms and corridors, as well as an updated gym, make this classic a must-experience hotel in Seattle.

The Fairmont Olympic Hotel
411 University Street
Seattle, WA 98101
(206) 621-1700
<http://www.fairmont.com/seattle/>

Self-parking is $45 per day and valet parking is $55 per day.

Fellows are encouraged to sign up for the Fairmont's Presidents Club loyalty program, designed to provide benefits, privileges and convenience when traveling: complimentary WiFi, telephone calls, newspaper delivery, and more. Membership is complimentary: www.fairmont.com/fpc

Deluxe Room $285

Deluxe rooms feature one king or two double beds, an intimate sitting area and work desk, equipped with Ethernet connectivity and separate ChargePort with USB outlets. Deluxe rooms offer an en suite marble bathroom with rainfall shower and a dressing area.

Executive Suite $325

Executive Suites are well-appointed and offer living and sleeping spaces, separated by soft-close sliding barn-style doors. The luxurious sitting room is furnished with a modern sofa, some with pull-out sleeper, modern wing chair and work desk featuring Ethernet connectivity and a separate ChargePort including USB outlets.

Upgrade to a Signature Room or Suite (additional $20)

Relish in the upgraded luxuries of Signature rooms and suites on the top two floors of the hotel. From the point of arrival at the private Signature Check-in desk, to the option to enjoy the in-room Nespresso machine, Signature rooms and suites offer special comforts including a European-style duvet and plush Stearns & Foster mattress and complimentary High Speed Internet.

Room reservations are guaranteed with one night's deposit and rates are subject to 15.6% state, local and occupancy taxes, as well as a $2 per night city room assessment. Individual cancellations within thirty (30) days prior to arrival day and "no shows" will forfeit the deposit unless the room is resold. Please contact the hotel directly for room cancellations.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

The following schedule of events is preliminary.
A schedule with final dates, times, and event locations will be included in your meeting registration packet.

Committee meeting materials will be emailed to committee members, accessible on the meeting app,

The Life Cycle of a Charity

Wednesday, June 14 1:00 PM – 5:00 PM
Thursday, June 15 8:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Breakfast Buffet at 7:00 AM for Registered Stand-Alone Attendees Only.

Registration Fee	Two Days
Online materials	$ 400
Print materials	$ 450

Donors and their advisors often consider creating and operating separate charities to accomplish important philanthropic goals. Is a new charity really necessary? If so, can it be viable? What form should it take? What is involved in running a successful charity? What problems should be anticipated? And what should be done when the charity fulfills its mission or runs into insurmountable obstacles?

This program is designed to provide all attendees a robust, multi-disciplinary examination of how the stages in the life of a charity relate to each other, the legal issues involved, and how and when to invite other advisors (business, management, real estate, employment, bankruptcy, etc.), into the process to help address issues and challenges.

The program will engage Fellows ranging from the curious to those who are highly experienced in guiding and designing philanthropic organizations. It also will serve as a comprehensive refresher for those who advise clients who serve on charitable boards as well as Fellows who serve on boards themselves.

Wednesday, June 14, 2017 (Day One)

Session I The Philanthropic Spark

1:00 PM – 2:15 PM

An examination of the fundamental questions associated with the reasons a client wants to support particular charitable causes including:

- Factors that drive the impulse to give and create
- Advantages of channeling the “charitable impulse” by creatively utilizing existing structures and organizations
- When and how a client’s philanthropic goals will be best accomplished by creating a new charitable platform

Speakers:

Edward Jay Beckwith, Washington, DC (Moderator)

Martin Hall, Boston, MA

Anne LeBleu, Arabella Advisors, Washington, DC

Michelle A. W. McKinnon, Richmond, VA

Shelley Whelpton, Arabella Advisors, Washington, DC

2017 SUMMER SEMINAR

(FELLOWS AND SPONSORS ONLY)

(Additional fee required to attend)

Cultural Variables in the Estate Planning Relationship

Saturday, June 17

8:00 AM – 12:05 PM

Registration Fee

Online materials	$ 225
Print materials	$ 275

Perhaps the most satisfying aspect of the estate planning lawyer's professional life is the establishment and nurturing of the lawyer/client relationship. Most of us meet thousands of new clients during our practice "lifetimes" and each new client comes to us with his or her unique circumstances. Some have never engaged a lawyer before and really aren't certain what they need; it is our job to teach them about what we do, what they need done and how we can assist them. Others are more experienced and come to us with established ideas, ready to engage us to respond to those ideas and implement their plans. While our clients usually come to us with issues and solutions that are common and frequently seen, nonetheless, every client is unique in what he or she brings to the engagement. In recent years, there has been an important evolution, perhaps revolution, in the clients who come to us for advice. That evolution/revolution has resulted from their increasing mobility, in-state, nationally and internationally. More and more often our clients come to us with ideas that derive from their own national, religious and/or cultural backgrounds, backgrounds with which we may not be familiar and which we haven't yet encountered. Those ACTEC Fellows who have had this experience, sometimes many times, have found that they are better able to help their clients when they have at least a basic understanding of their clients' "culture." These sessions are designed to address these cultural variables, focusing on property law issues, health-care and end of life issues and issues arising from the relationship between lawyers and clients.

Session I

Religious Considerations in Property and Inheritance Rights in Estate Planning

8:00 AM – 9:15 AM

Religious beliefs among our clients are as diverse as our clients themselves, and we do them a disservice by ignoring those convictions. At the same time, as members of a diverse society, we have our own beliefs. When our beliefs differ, or downright contradict, those of our clients, can we be proper advisors and advocates for them? Or, rather, if we are mindful of this tension, are there actually opportunities for estate planning professionals who have a basic knowledge of different faith traditions to do a better job in serving their diverse clients? This session will explore inheritance rights and issues that derive from various faith traditions, with a focus on the three largest religious faiths in the US (Christianity, Islam and Judaism) along with variations within each faith. This session will also address inheritance issues relevant to Native Americans. The goal in this session is not to make one an expert, but to allow estate planners to spot these issues when they do arise and provide some guidance to their clients.

Speakers:

Sarah Roubidoux Lawson, Schwabe Williamson & Wyatt, Seattle, WA

Jason S. Ornduff, Chicago, IL

Stacy E. Singer, Chicago, IL

Coffee Break

9:15 AM – 9:25 AM

Session II

Cultural Competency in Healthcare and End of Life Decision-Making (Ethics/Elimination of Bias)

9:25 AM – 10:40 AM

End of life decision-making involves not just the lawyers and documents drafted by lawyers, but also the patient, their support system, and their medical team. Unfortunately, intentional and unintentional bias can often be a barrier to the effectiveness of the decision-making process; however, such bias can often be countered if estate planning lawyers and allied professionals have a better understanding of their own cultural norms and biases and those of the patients and their support systems. For the lawyer advising a client planning for end of life decision-making, this understanding can foster a more inclusive approach to working with the client. This session will examine end of life decisions made from various religious perspectives. It will also explore how cultural norms affect these decisions. Finally, it will explore “cultural competency” from the medical perspective, and how the variety of how different populations access medical care and communicate with medical professionals can influence their end of life decisions.

Speakers:

Wendy Goffe, Seattle, WA

Aubrey Lawlor, College of Nursing, Seattle University, Seattle, WA

Akane R. Suzuki, Seattle, WA

Coffee Break

10:40 AM – 10:50 AM

Session III

International Variables in the Estate Planning Relationship: Understanding What Your Client Brings to the Table (Ethics)

10:50 AM – 12:05 PM

Clients from different regions of the world bring their own cultural preconceptions to a meeting with their estate planning attorney. While US lawyers and US clients approach the estate planning conversation from the same vantage point (understanding rules of privilege and confidentiality and the need for the lawyer to be well-informed), the US lawyer sitting down for the first time with a client from Asia, EMEA or Latin America will very likely be faced with multiple cultural disconnects that very tangibly and practically affect the services they are being engaged to provide. This session will explore those preconceptions and disconnects with a panel of ACTEC Fellows who have significant experience with clients from these global regions. The panelists will address differences in the understanding of confidentiality and privilege, in the imposition and enforcement of tax obligations, in regulatory regimes and in legal systems. Most importantly, they will share anecdotes from their international estate planning practices that illustrate these cultural variations and, finally, will share some best practices for approaching a planning engagement with a client from another country.

Speakers:

Kurt G. Rademacher, Ridgeland, MS

Carolyn Ann Reers, Greenwich, CT

Joshua S. Rubenstein, New York, NY

Andrew H. Weinstein, Miami, FL

Chihuly Garden and Glass Reception and Dinner (Optional Event)

Saturday, June 17

6:00 PM – 9:00 PM (15 minute transfer time)

$185 per person

$75 per teen/child

This comprehensive collection of Dale Chihuly's work sits at the base of the city's iconic Space Needle. Guests will have time to explore the magical Exhibition Hall, Theater, and Garden installation before dining in the Glasshouse.

Visit the eight galleries and three Drawing Walls to learn about the inspiration and influences that inform the career of artist Dale Chihuly.

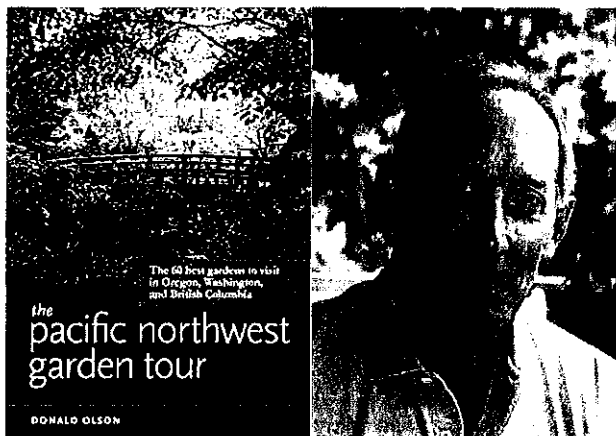

The artworks demonstrate how he pushed the boundaries of glass as an art medium in concept, execution, and presentation. The Theater presents short videos on Chihuly's working process — interviews, glassblowing, and working onsite during installations and exhibitions. Anchored by four monumental sculptures, the Garden features paths lined with trees, plants and flowers as a rich backdrop for the art. The centerpiece, the Glasshouse, is a 40-foot tall, glass and steel structure covering 4,500 square feet of light-filled space, the result of Chihuly's lifelong appreciation for conservatories.

ACTEC Fellows and guests will enjoy their choice of pre-selected entrées (roasted wild salmon, Anderson Ranch rack of lamb, or vegetarian Romanesco broccoli) during a plated dinner in the Glasshouse.

Northern Trust is pleased to sponsor this event.

SPECIAL EVENTS FOR SPOUSES AND GUESTS

Spouse and Adult Guest Program: Five Remarkable Women, Four Remarkable Pacific Northwest Gardens

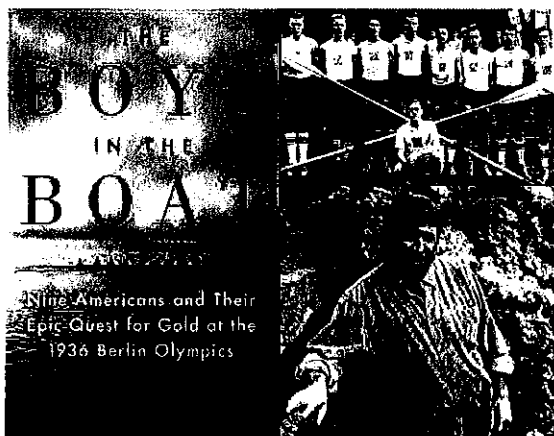

Friday, June 16
9:00 AM – 10:15 AM

Award-winning travel writer and author Donald Olson takes you on a literary tour of four remarkable Pacific Northwest gardens and introduces you to the five remarkable women who created them. Meet Hulda Klager, a housewife who became one of the world's leading lilac hybridizers; Eulalie Wagner, a socialite who created one of the great estate gardens of Washington State; Lilla Leach, an intrepid plant explorer and botanist who founded her own botanical garden; and Elizabeth Lord and Edith Schryver, the first female landscape designers in the Pacific Northwest. After the presentation, Donald will be available to answer questions and sign copies of his best-selling guide, The Pacific Northwest Garden Tour – The Sixty Best Gardens to Visit in Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia.

Donald Olson is a novelist, playwright and travel writer. His book, The Pacific Northwest Garden Tour – The Sixty Best Gardens to Visit in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, was named by Library Journal as one of the best reference guides of 2014. Over the years Donald has written over thirty U.S. and European travel guides for Frommer's, most recently Portland Day by Day, Seattle Day by Day and Easy Guide to Seattle, Portland and the Oregon Coast.

His next travel book, The California Garden Tour – The 50 Best Gardens to Visit in the Golden State, will be published by Timber Press in July 2017. Donald lives, writes, and gardens in Manhattan and Portland, Oregon.

Books After Breakfast: The Boys in the Boat by Daniel James Brown

Saturday, June 17
8:30 AM – 10:00 AM

Facilitated by Elizabeth M. (Beth) Fox

The Boys in the Boat celebrates the 1936 U.S. men's Olympic eight-oar rowing team – nine working class boys who stormed the rowing world, transformed the sport, and galvanized the attention of millions of Americans.

The sons of loggers, shipyard workers, and farmers from the American West, the boys took on and defeated successive echelons of privilege and power. They vanquished the sons of bankers and senators rowing for elite eastern universities. They defeated the sons of British aristocrats rowing for Oxford and Cambridge. And finally, in an extraordinary race in Berlin, they stunned the Aryan sons of the Nazi state as they rowed for gold in front of Adolf Hitler.

Against the grim backdrop of the Great Depression, they reaffirmed the American notion that merit, in the end, outweighs birthright. They provided hope that in the titanic struggle that lay just ahead, the ruthless might of the Nazis would not prevail over American grit, determination, and optimism.

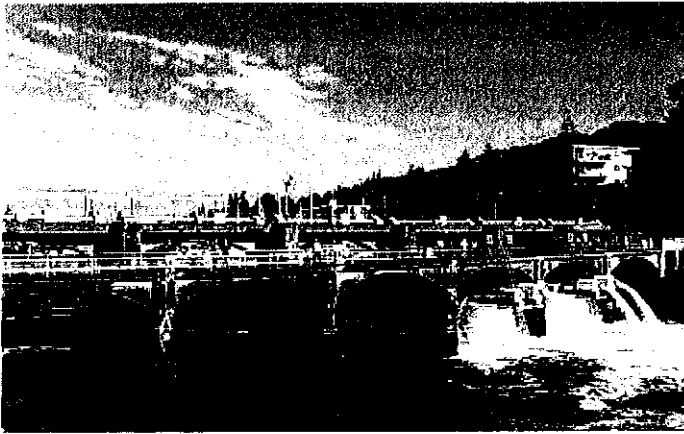

And even as it chronicles the boys' collective achievement, The Boys in the Boat is also the heart-warming story of one young man in particular. Cast aside by his family at an early age, abandoned and left to fend for himself, Joe Rantz rows not just for glory, but to regain his shattered self-regard, to dare again to trust in others, and to find his way back to a place he can call home.

TOURS

This is Seattle. All tours will take place rain or shine!

Emerald City Highlights Motor Coach Tour

Wednesday, June 14

1:00 PM – 5:00 PM

$75 per person

This motor coach tour visits the city's must-see attractions, famous landmarks, unique neighborhoods, and beautiful sights. Learn about Seattle's history and culture while getting insider tips on Pike Place Market and special shopping and sightseeing areas.

The tour kicks off in the historic Pioneer Square district known for its Renaissance Revival architecture, amazing restaurants, the Smith Tower, sports bars and bustling nightlife all living in harmony. Elliott Bay waterfront features the Seattle Aquarium, piers, ferry docks, souvenir shops, restaurants, and other Puget Sound attractions. Not to be missed is a stop at the Hiram M. Chittenden Locks, commonly called the Ballard Locks. Explore the grounds and watch as boats travel between the saltwater of the Puget Sound and the freshwater of the Ship Canal connecting to Lake Union and Lake Washington.

The last stop will be Pike Place Market, established in 1907 to connect citizens and farmers. The Market offers a year-round farmers market, owner-operated bakeries, fish markets, butcher shops, produce stands, and specialty food stores. Guests may stay at the Market following the tour with only a short walk back to the hotel.

Inclusions: Transportation, guide, taxes, and gratuities

Franklin Falls Hiking

Thursday, June 15

8:30 AM – 12:30 PM (1 hour transfer)

$125 per person

For an easy day hike with a spectacular endpoint, look no further than Franklin Falls. At just 2 miles roundtrip with 400 feet in elevation gain, it is the perfect destination for any hiker looking for something relaxed and beautiful.

There are a few spots where bits of the trail have been washed out, or handrails haven't been installed, but overall it is a safe and fun trail with a number of stairs and a gentle incline. The trail goes through the forest and along a gorge and is enshrouded in a thick canopy of coniferous trees, which make it a great trail on a hot day. The picturesque falls are actually comprised of three separate tiers, giving them a total drop of 135 feet, with only the last, largest drop visible from the trail.

Suggested attire: Comfortable clothing and closed-toe shoes, a light, hooded jacket, sunglasses, hat or visor, sunscreen

Inclusions: Transportation, hiking guide, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Required: Liability waiver

Activity level: Must be moderately fit without physical limitations

TOURS

Winery Tours and Tastings at Chateau St. Michelle, "Novelty Hill," and "Januik"

Thursday, June 15

12:30 PM–4:15 PM (40 minute transfer)

$150 per person

With the perfect climate for wine, ideal growing conditions, quality wines, business innovation and social responsibility, Washington State is a premium wine producing region.

"Chateau Ste. Michelle" is Washington State's founding winery, with some of the oldest and most acclaimed vineyards in the Columbia Valley. While all of the vineyards are located on the east side of the Cascade Mountains, where the climate is dry and sunny, winemaker Bob Bertheau makes the award winning white wines in Woodinville, where guests will enjoy a tour and tasting.

Uniting innovation with tradition, "Novelty Hill" and family-owned "Januik" are two independent wineries that share a tasting room and production facility. The building's contemporary design and surrounding landscape celebrate wine's agrarian roots and the artistry of fine winemaking. Guests will sample wines from distinguished winemaker Mike Januik, recently named one of the world's 10 "Masters of Merlot" by Wine Enthusiast magazine.

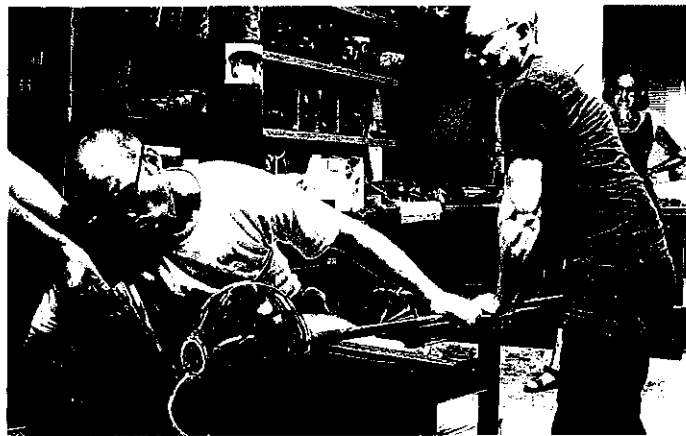

Suggested attire: Light, hooded jacket, sunglasses, a hat or visor, sunscreen and a camera

Inclusions: Transportation, guide, tours and tastings at Chateau Ste. Michelle and Novelty Hill | Januik, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities Restrictions: Participants must be at least 21 years of age.

Glassblowing Class at glassybaby

Thursday, June 15

3:00 PM–6:00 PM (20 minute transfer)

$250 per person

Seattle has become internationally recognized as the center for glass art, second only to Venice, Italy. Numerous glass art galleries, public glass collections, and studios are located throughout the city.

Enjoy this unique opportunity to blow glass in glassybaby's state-of-the-art facility. This customized workshop is designed to give the beginning student an overview of basic glass blowing techniques, including gathering glass on the rod, shaping it, and basic color application. Guests will make a one-of-a-kind glass creation (typically a bowl, ornament float, or paperweight) to take home.

The class includes a private presentation highlighting the history and mission behind glassybaby, time to work exclusively one-on-one with a glass artist, and the option to purchase items from the studio.

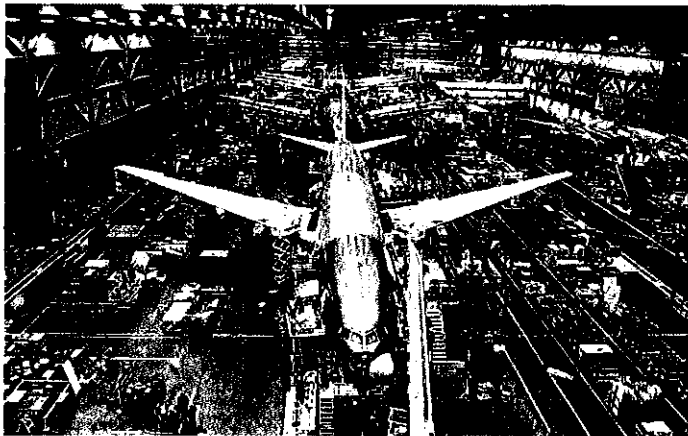

Inclusions: Transportation, guide, glassblowing experience and glass piece keepsake, taxes, and gratuities

Note: Glass art will be delivered to the hotel 2-3 days after the tour. Glass art is placed in a cooling oven that gradually reduces the temperature to prevent shattering.

Required: Liability waiver

Suquamish Tribal Museum and Tribal Court Tour with Lunch

Friday, June 16

8:15 AM – 3:45 PM (15 minute transfer to ferry terminal; 35 minute ferry ride)

$150 per person

Travel by Washington State Ferry across Puget Sound to visit the museum and gift shop reflecting Suquamish tribal history and culture. Chief Suquamish Judge Cindy Smith will lead a discussion on the Court followed by lunch at the Beach Glass Café before the return ferry to Seattle.

The Suquamish Museum features a timeline of the history of the Suquamish People and the creation of the Port Madison Indian Reservation. Objects owned by the museum and on loan help visitors to discover the lives of the Suquamish People. The Tribal Court is the forum where the people of the Suquamish Tribe and the native residents of the Reservation can resolve disputes in a peaceful manner consistent with the Suquamish Tribe Constitution, laws, rights, customs, and traditions.

The Beach Glass Café offers an inviting lunch atmosphere adorned with artisan glass collected from local beaches and recycled to create a glass water wall, jelly fish lamps, glass columns, and glass tiled walls.

Suggested attire: Comfortable walking shoes and a light, hooded jacket

Inclusions: Transportation, escort, museum admission and tour, Chief Judge led tour of the tribal court, lunch, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Restrictions: Not ADA-accessible

Shop Pike Place Market and Cook with Local Chef

Friday, June 16

9:30 AM – 1:30 PM

$225 per person

Local Chef Diane LaVonne will lead guests through the Pike Place Market gathering some of the ingredients for today’s meal and meeting her favorite market vendors. Diane will provide tips on picking the best fish, produce, and seasonings. Moving on to her kitchen located on the edge of the Pike Place Market, guests can join in or simply observe the preparation of a delicious meal highlighting the market’s freshest, seasonal, and local offerings of the day. Everyone will dine and drink together.

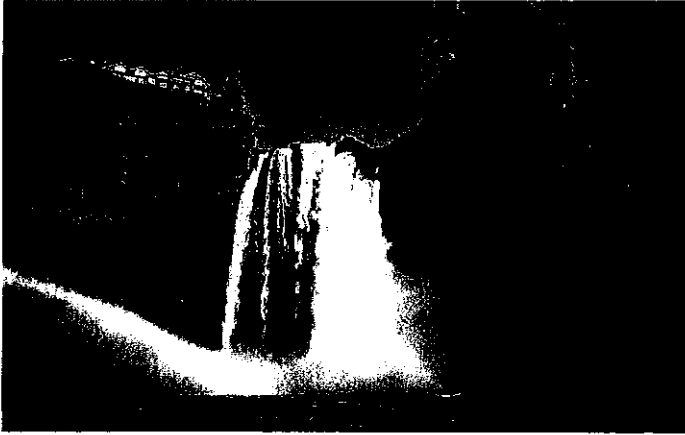

Diane believes food and menus should be based on what is fresh, seasonal and local. Her recipes are designed to be re-created in a home kitchen with ingredients available in your local farmers markets and/or grocery stores.

Suggested attire: Comfortable walking shoes and a light, hooded jacket

Inclusions: Pike Place Market guided shopping experience, cooking class and lunch with wine, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Note: Not ADA-accessible

Waterfalls, Chocolate, and Wine Tour

Friday, June 16

12:00 PM – 5:00 PM (40 minute transfer)

$125 per person

One of Washington's most popular scenic attractions includes the Snoqualmie River cascading 270 feet through a spectacular rock gorge into a 65-foot deep pool. On top of the falls sits the Salish Lodge & Spa which may look familiar as it is the setting for "Twin Peaks," the David Lynch TV mystery series.

Next up is a visit to Boehm's Candy Kitchen, known throughout the Northwest for their fabulous Swiss chocolates. Tour the candy factory and taste samples before moving on to tour an authentic Swiss Chalet and Alpine Chapel where guests will hear the incredible history of founder Julius Boehm.

The tour will continue to nearby Chateau Ste. Michelle Winery. Located on 87 acres of arboretum-like grounds, Chateau Ste. Michelle is Washington's oldest winery and is regularly voted as one of the top ten wineries in the United States.

Suggested attire: Light, hooded jacket, hat, sunglasses, and sunscreen

Inclusions: Transportation, guide, visit to Snoqualmie Falls, Boehm's Candy Kitchen tour and tastings, Chateau Ste. Michelle winery tour and tastings, bottled water, licenses and site fees, taxes, and gratuities

Note: The chalet is not ADA-accessible

Restrictions: Must be at least 21 years of age to participate in wine tasting

Valuation Services, Inc. is pleased to sponsor this event.

Pioneer Square and Sustainability Tour

Friday, June 16

1:00 PM – 5:00 PM

$115 per person

A Seattle Historian will lead guests through the Pioneer Square District, Seattle's oldest residential area, sharing its colorful history during a gold rush and the Great Fire up to its current life.

Pioneer Square boasts the country's largest concentration of Victorian-Romanesque architecture. Stand on the spot where the city fathers waded ashore to found their metropolis. At Pioneer Square Park, historic elements include the totem pole from the Tlingit American Indian village (1890), the Pioneer Building, constructed just after the Great Fire of 1889, and the Pergola (1905), designed to shelter passengers waiting for the cable car that used to travel along Yesler Way.

After a trip into Seattle's historic past, glimpse into its future with a stop at the Bullitt Center, the Greenest commercial building in the world. Learn about the mechanical and electrical rooms, the gray water and rainwater treatment systems, non-flush toilets, and the glass-enclosed "irresistible" stairway that coaxes visitors into climbing it by offering panoramic views of downtown Seattle and Puget Sound.

Suggested attire: Comfortable walking shoes and a light, hooded jacket, sunglasses, hat or visor, sunscreen, and a camera

Inclusions: Transportation, historian guide, private tour of the Bullitt Center, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Note: Some roads are cobblestone and not easy for wheelchairs.

Deloitte is pleased to sponsor this event.

TOURS

Bainbridge Island Bicycle Tour

Saturday, June 17

7:30 AM – 1:15 PM (10 minute walk to bicycle shop; 35 minute ferry ride)

$190 per person

With a striking skyline and snow-covered mountain ranges, experience why Seattle is just as wonderful from a distance as it is from close up during this 15-mile bicycle tour.

Riders will see a bit of downtown Seattle before boarding the ferry to Bainbridge Island. Take in the sweeping views of the Olympic Mountains, Cascade Range, Mt. Rainier, and city skyline. After a brief exploration of Winslow, the group will continue along the lush evergreen-lined bicycle friendly roads of this magnificent residential island. Breathe in the fresh air, see outstanding waterside views, and enjoy the open road while learning about Bainbridge's rich World War II history.

There will be a stop for snacks and a visit to Point White to glimpse bald eagles nesting and seals sunning before heading back to the ferry, where cyclists always board and exit first. Once docked, the group will ride through historic Pioneer Square before heading back to the bicycle shop.

Suggested attire: Closed-toe athletic shoes and a light, hooded jacket, sunglasses, hat or visor, and sunscreen

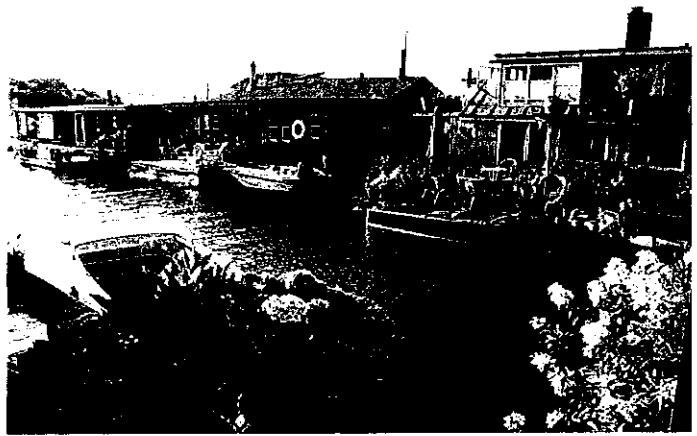

Inclusions: Transportation via ferry, 21-speed commuter bicycle and helmet, guided bicycle tour, snacks and bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Note: Participant height required during registration

Required: Liability waiver

Activity level: Must be moderately fit without physical limitations

History, Houseboats, and Gardens Cruise

Saturday June 17

1:00 PM – 5:00 PM (15 minute transfer to the dock)

$225 per person

Conducted from the waters of Lake Washington and Lake Union aboard a classic wooden yacht, this tour will highlight Seattle's houseboats and canals, with views of the boats and their gardens as well as waterfront estates.

As this small yacht cruises through Lake Union, you will pass kayakers and float planes, while enjoying stunning views of Mount Rainier and the Seattle skyline. Over four hundred floating homes make up Seattle's historic houseboat community including the houseboat from the film Sleepless in Seattle, and famous artist Dale Chihuly's Houseboat and Studio. What began as paupers' dwellings eventually transformed into an eclectic lifestyle for Seattle's upwardly mobile.

In Lake Washington, you will see the University of Washington Husky Stadium and the waterfront home of Bill Gates as well as other multi-million dollar mansions of the Nordstrom family, Paul Allen, Howard Schultz, and Kenny G. Discover why concrete floating bridges are employed to span the lake and learn about the rich naval history of the region.

Suggested attire: Comfortable clothing and a light, hooded jacket, sunglasses, a hat or visor, sunscreen and a camera

Inclusions: Transportation, private wooden yacht, guide, bottled water, taxes, and gratuities

Note: This tour is not ADA-accessible. Water is generally calm and flat but can become choppy at times depending on wind, weather, and water conditions

Chinese woman carrying 'malware' arrested at Mar-a-Lago heading to a Cindy Yang event Sarah Blaskey et al., Miami Herald

A Chinese woman carrying a thumb drive loaded with malware was detained at Mar-a-Lago Saturday after trying to gain access to an event advertised on Chinese-language social media by Li "Cindy" Yang, the South Florida massage parlor entrepreneur who also ran a business selling access to President Donald Trump and his family. The woman, Yujing Zhang, has been charged with two federal crimes: making false statements to a federal officer and entering restricted property.

How Rupert Murdoch's Empire of Influence Remade the World Jonathan Mahler and Jim Rutenberg, The New York Times

Rupert Murdoch was lying on the floor of his cabin, unable to move. It was January 2018, and Murdoch and his fourth wife, Jerry Hall, were spending the holidays cruising the Caribbean on his elder son Lachlan's yacht.

What's next for Paul Ryan has been a question on his hometown's mind since he announced he wouldn't run for re-election nearly one year ago. Tuesday night, the longtime Republican congressman told some of his plans to about 700 people attending Forward Janesville's annual dinner.

White House & Administration

Trump to Republicans: Sorry, but You're Gonna Have to Campaign on Obamacare Repeal Sam Brodey and Asawin Suebsaeng, The Daily Beast

A top ally to President Trump said on Tuesday that Capitol Hill should expect a fresh health-care plan from the White House soon, just a day after the president himself conceded that no real movement on the issue will happen until after the 2020 election. Rep. Mark Meadows (R-NC) told The Daily Beast he believes the Trump administration "will have the framework for a comprehensive health-care initiative within months."

Trump to Fed Chairman Powell: 'I Guess I'm Stuck With You'
Nick Timiraos and Alex Leary, The Wall Street Journal

President Trump is blaming the Federal Reserve for holding back the economy and stock market despite the central bank's recent decision to do two things he wanted-halt rate increases and stop shrinking its asset portfolio. The president blasted the Fed and Chairman Jerome Powell at three meetings in the past week alone, telling Republican senators, supporters and staffers that if it wasn't for the central bank's past rate increases, economic output and stocks would be higher and the U.S. budget deficit would be rising less.

White House looks to minimize economic impact of Trump's threatened closure of Mexico border
Damian Paletta and Josh Dawsey, The Washington Post

Senior White House officials are exploring ways to exempt commercial trade from President Trump's threat to shut down the U.S. border with Mexico, three people briefed on the discussions said, amid warnings that blocking the flow of goods between the two countries would have severe consequences for the U.S. economy. In brief remarks, Trump on Tuesday again threatened to close the border but would not definitively say whether he would do so, and he has not divulged his plans even to some of his closest aides.

Trump Aides Fear He Is Overselling His 'Exoneration'
Olivia Nuzzi, New York Magazine

Last Sunday, minutes before the rest of America found out about Attorney General William Barr's summary of the Mueller report, Donald Trump received a briefing in his private residence at Mar-a-Lago that would kick off one of the most emotionally intense weeks of his presidency. In interviews with New York, White House officials and people familiar with internal events have described mood swings rippling through the administration: First came relief, in the form of smiles and tears and bottles of Champagne; then, the catharsis of "righteous anger," with fuck yous to the press, Democrats in Congress, and members of the intelligence community; as the excitement waned, "cooler heads" emerged in the White House with brand-new anxieties about a president inclined to inflict self-harm by taking things too far.

Trump's company made late tax payments on L.A. golf course properties, incurring fines

David A. Fahrenthold and Jonathan O'Connell, The Washington Post

President Trump's company owed $36,200 in delinquent property taxes on its California golf course until Monday - when it paid, after the delinquency was pointed out by The Washington Post. The unpaid taxes were for two parcels of land, totaling about 25 acres, at Trump's course in Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif.

Senate

Coming soon: The death of the filibuster
Burgess Everett, Politico

The filibuster is in peril. With Republicans expected to change the Senate rules to slash debate time on President Donald Trump's nominees this week, it will mark the third time the "nuclear option" - changing Senate rules by a simple majority - has been triggered in just six years.

Top Democrat Proposes Annual Tax on Unrealized Capital Gains
Gabriel T. Rubin, The Wall Street Journal

The top Democrat on the Senate's tax-writing committee wants to tax long-term investments like other types of income, raising rates and requiring the wealthiest people to pay taxes on their unrealized gains each year. The plan from Sen. Ron Wyden of Oregon is the latest proposal from Democrats in Congress and on the presidential-campaign trail to boost taxes on the wealthy in a bid to address what they view as the problems of economic inequality and provide a funding stream to pay for new programs.

House

House Democrats Punt on Budget Resolution, Turning Instead to Spending Increases
Emily Cochrane, The New York Times

House Democrats formally punted on releasing a budget blueprint on Tuesday, instead unveiling a bill that would increase military and domestic spending caps by more than $350 billion over the next two years. The proposal frustrated fiscal hawks on both sides of the aisle and Democrats on the party's left flank who balked at the prospect of increasing military spending.

Dems seek to put GOP on record on Trump border closure
Sarah Ferris and Laura Barrón-López, Politico

House Democratic leaders are considering a vote to condemn President Donald Trump's calls to shut down the southern border, in a clear attempt to force Republicans into a difficult political spot, according to several lawmakers. Top Democrats discussed the measure at a meeting in Speaker Nancy Pelosi's office Tuesday evening.

Democratic leaders stand firm on incumbent-favor rule, rebuff liberal cries of 'blacklist'
Mike DeBonis and Rachael Bade, The Washington Post

House Democratic leaders signaled Tuesday they have no plans to roll back a new policy aimed at protecting incumbents from a potential primary challenge despite the left panning the policy as a consultant "blacklist." The message has been delivered in public and in private about the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee's prohibition on vendors working with candidates who challenge sitting lawmakers.

Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez Formed An Unlikely Alliance With Nancy Pelosi. Now It's Facing Its First Real Test.
Lissandra Villa, BuzzFeed News

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi has earned her reputation as a Washington powerbroker through decades of tactful negotiating, a prowess that has made her both a Democratic champion and, to critics, the face of the Establishment. When a new wave of progressive Democrats with Twitter megaphones and massive followings entered the House this year, it came as no surprise to Pelosi's supporters that she was able to quickly win them over as allies and forge powerful political relationships, even landing on the cover of Rolling Stone smiling alongside the leaders of the new Democratic House resistance.

7 Republicans voted against naming a post office after the late Rep. Louise Slaughter
Lindsey McPherson, Roll Call

Seven Republicans voted against a House resolution Tuesday to rename a post office building in Fairport, New York, after the late Rep. Louise Slaughter and her husband Bob, who is also deceased. Slaughter, a New York Democrat who was the first woman to chair the House Rules Committee, died last year at the age of 88 after being hospitalized for a fall in the middle of her 16th term in Congress.

Luján's move opens up Jeffries' path to speaker's chair
Heather Caygle and John Bresnahan, Politico

Ben Ray Luján just gave Hakeem Jeffries a big gift: A clearer path to the speaker's chair. Luján's decision to jump into the New Mexico Senate race - waiving the chance to move up in House leadership - removes a potential rival for Jeffries (D-N.Y.), according to more than a dozen Democratic lawmakers and aides.

2020

In 1st quarter, Sanders takes early lead in 2020 fundraising
Bill Barrow, The Associated Press

A handful of Democratic presidential candidates are touting the amount of money they've raised in the first fundraising period of a 2020 primary fight that will last into next spring. The totals for the first quarter, which ran through March 31, are the first measure of how candidates are faring.

CNN's 2020 Democratic debate set for July 30-31 in Detroit
Devan Cole, CNN

The second debate of the 2020 Democratic presidential primary, hosted by CNN, will take place in Detroit on July 30 and 31, the Democratic National Committee announced Tuesday. The debate will bring the crowded field of Democratic candidates to the battleground state of Michigan, which President Donald Trump won in 2016.

Conservative groups that wanted to oust Mitch McConnell not calling for a repeat
Lesley Clark, McClatchy DC

Mitch McConnell is heading to re-election next year without a primary threat looming on his right - a marked contrast from his last election, when he faced an aggressive, if ultimately unsuccessful challenge. The lack of a potential rival speaks to McConnell's success at working with President Donald Trump as well as the result of the 2014 primary challenge.

Lori Lightfoot elected Chicago mayor, making her the first African-American woman to lead the city

Bill Ruthhart, The Chicago Tribune

Lori Lightfoot won a resounding victory Tuesday night to become both the first African-American woman and openly gay person elected mayor of Chicago, dealing a stinging defeat to a political establishment that has reigned over City Hall for decades. After waging a campaign focused on upending the vaunted Chicago political machine, Lightfoot dismantled one of its major cogs by dispatching Cook County Board President Toni Preckwinkle, whose candidacy had been hobbled in part by an anti-incumbent mood among voters and an ongoing federal corruption investigation at City Hall.

Democrat Pam Iovino wins Pa. Senate seat

Julian Routh, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

The last time Pam Iovino was subject to a high-stakes vote tally, it was 2004 and she was unanimously confirmed to lead the Department of Veterans Affairs congressional and legislative affairs offices. On Tuesday, the Democrat and Navy veteran was elected to the Pennsylvania state Senate, besting Republican D. Raja in a special election after a bruising two-month campaign that garnered national attention along the way.

Puerto Rico to Trump: 'We Are Not Your Adversaries, We Are Your Citizens'

Patricia Mazzei, The New York Times

For weeks, Gov. Ricardo A. Rosselló of Puerto Rico has asked the White House for a private meeting with President Trump to lay out the island's case for why it desperately needs federal funds for rebuilding after Hurricane Maria, money that has been tied up in a partisan political fight in Congress. For weeks, the governor says, his request has gone unanswered.

Va. Republicans accuse Democrats of stonewalling on Fairfax hearing

Fenit Nirappi, The Washington Post

Republican lawmakers in Virginia blame Democrats for preventing a public hearing into allegations made by two women who say Lt. Gov. Justin Fairfax (D) sexually assaulted them years ago. In a statement Tuesday, House Speaker Kirk Cox (R-Colonial Heights) said that Republicans had made several attempts to negotiate terms with Democrats over what would be an unprecedented public hearing but that the minority leader, Del. Eileen Filler-Corn (D-Fairfax), "has made clear that she will not agree to a bipartisan General Assembly hearing of any nature."

Alabama bill would outlaw abortion as lawmakers aim at Roe Kim Chandler, The Associated Press

Alabama is the latest Republican-leaning state seeking to enact a strict abortion ban as conservatives take aim at the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion. Energized by new conservatives on the Supreme Court, abortion opponents in multiple states hope to ignite new legal battles that could prompt the justices to revisit Roe v. Wade.

Advocacy

Former Mass. AG Coakley joins e-cigarette maker Juul Nathaniel Weixel, The Hill

Former Massachusetts Attorney General Martha Coakley (D) is joining the government affairs team at e-cigarette maker Juul, the company said Tuesday. Coakley, who previously lost races for Senate and governor in Massachusetts, will be working primarily with state officials, regulators and organizations to educate them on ways Juul is fighting underage use.

Voting Machine Firms Add Lobbyists Amid Election Hacker Concerns Megan R. Wilson and Michaela Ross, Bloomberg

Voting machine manufacturers are increasing their Capitol Hill presence as lawmakers demand they do more to protect U.S. elections against foreign hackers. Dominion Voting Systems - which commands more than a third of the voting-machine market without having Washington lobbyists - has hired its first, a high-powered firm that includes a longtime aide to Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

Senate Republicans' Ugly Nominations Agenda Chuck Schumer, Politico

To read Monday's op-ed by Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, one might think it must have been a very bad April Fools' joke. With a record of obstruction in the Senate as notorious as Senator McConnell's, it is hard to take seriously his complaints about how Democrats have handled President Trump's nominees.

Blowing Up the Border
The Editorial Board, The Wall Street Journal

President Trump is threatening to shut down all legal crossings at the U.S.-Mexico border, and let's hope this is negotiating bluster and not a plan. It's hard to imagine a more self-destructive decision, and it wouldn't solve the border asylum crisis in any event.

Barriers to recruiting and retaining global talent in the U.S.
FWD.us and The Hatch Foundation

Immigration has long been one of America's greatest competitive advantages. For decades highly skilled immigrants have helped make the United States economy the strongest in the world by filling crucial roles at American businesses and founding successful businesses of their own, in turn raising wages, increasing productivity, and creating jobs for U.S. workers.

Mueller's Russian-Trolls Prosecution Puts U.S. Secrets at Risk Andrew M Harris, Bloomberg

A centerpiece of Special Counsel Robert Mueller's two-year investigation - his indictment of 16 individuals and companies in Russia for interfering in the 2016 election - now threatens to backfire in a court-ordered release of U.S. intelligence-gathering secrets. That's because a federal judge has to decide whether the Justice Department must turn over key evidence to one of the indicted Russian companies.

Mar-a-Lago's Security Problems Go Way Beyond a Thumb Drive Brian Barrett, Wired

On Saturday afternoon, Yujing Zhang arrived at Mar-a-Lago and approached a Secret Service agent, seeking entry. She explained, according to court documents, that she was there to use the pool. What happened next illustrates just how hard it is to secure President Trump's home away from the White House, and it joins a steadily growing number of concerning incidents.

Rand Paul, Ocasio-Cortez praise Trump for Syria withdrawal Burgess Everett, Politico

What do Rand Paul, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Mike Lee and Ilhan Omar have in common? They are all teaming up to offer President Donald Trump rare bipartisan praise from conservatives and liberals alike for his withdrawal from Syria.

When Beverly Davis began disqualifying numerous applicants for the Federal Election Commission's vacant inspector general job - including a long-time staff attorney for Commissioner Matthew Petersen - agency superiors protested. Accusations and allegations flew.

New book details Trump's topsy-turvy relationship with Congress Ashley Parker, The Washington Post

During a Republican retreat at Camp David last year, President Trump seemed particularly enthralled as Gary Cohn, then his chief economic adviser, delivered a briefing on infrastructure. The president impressed the assembled lawmakers with his apparent interest in the presentation, nodding along and scribbling furious notes.

Jared Kushner identified as senior White House official whose security clearance was denied by career officials
Tim Hamburger et al., The Washington Post

The senior White House official whose security clearance was denied last year because of concerns about foreign influence, private business interests and personal conduct is presidential son-in-law Jared Kushner, according to people familiar with documents and testimony provided to the House Oversight Committee. Kushner was identified only as "Senior White House Official 1" in committee documents released this week describing the testimony of Tricia Newbold, a whistleblower in the White House's personnel security office who said she and another career employee determined that Kushner had too many "significant disqualifying factors" to receive a clearance.

Dan Diamond and Adam Cancryn, Politico

The Trump administration's health department is suspending contracts with several GOP-connected communications firms, according to four people with knowledge of the situation, days after a POLITICO report revealed the existence of the contracts. One of the contractors who was hired to boost Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Administrator Seema Verma's profile with the media has also abruptly cut ties with the agency, two people with knowledge of the situation said.

The Trump administration is considering pumping U.S. dollars into Venezuela through banks, smartphones and apps if the regime of Nicolas Maduro fails, President Donald Trump's top economic adviser said. The U.S. is already in talks with Juan Guaido - the Venezuelan opposition chief the U.S. has recognized as the nation's leader - to develop an economic rescue and restructuring plan for the country that could begin immediately, should Maduro step down or be deposed, National

Trump to Meet China's Liu in a Sign Trade Talks Are Reaching Final Stages
Bloomberg

U.S. President Donald Trump will meet Chinese Vice Premier Liu He at the White House on Thursday as speculation grows that negotiations over a trade deal between the world's biggest economies is entering the final stages. Talks are continuing in Washington where Liu held meetings with U.S. Trade Representative Robert Lighthizer and Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin on Wednesday.

Senate

Senate Democrat Apologizes for Putting Too Little Trust in Mitch McConnell
Eric Levitz, New York Magazine

Senate Republicans went "nuclear" Wednesday: In a party-line vote, Mitch McConnell's caucus changed the upper chamber's rules, so as to maximize the number of judges Donald Trump will get to appoint, and minimize the Democratic Party's say over who those judges will be. Specifically, Republicans slashed the minimum time between ending debate over a district court (or Executive branch) nominee from 30 hours to two.

McConnell caught between Trump, GOP on disaster relief
Alexander Bolton, The Hill

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) is being squeezed between President Trump and anxious members of his Republican conference on a disaster relief bill that has stalled over the charged issue of assistance for Puerto Rico. Trump spent part of a meeting with Senate Republicans last week railing against what he sees as Puerto Rico consuming more than its fair share of disaster relief money.

On Tuesday, Trump claimed wind turbines cause cancer. Today, 19 senators urged more federal funding for them.
John Wagner, The Washington Post

The morning after President Trump claimed that noise from wind turbines can cause cancer, a bipartisan group of 19 senators announced a push for "robust" funding of federal programs to support the industry, calling it an "American success story." A letter, spearheaded by Sens. Jeff Merkley (D-Ore.) and Charles E. Grassley (R-Iowa), to an appropriations panel noted that the wind industry employs more than 100,000 U.S. citizens and said funding was needed "to ensure America remains a leader in wind energy technology."

House Committee Authorizes Subpoenas for Mueller Report Natalie Andrews and Byron Tau, The Wall Street Journal

The House Judiciary Committee voted to authorize subpoenas for the complete version of special counsel Robert Mueller's report on Russian interference in the 2016 election and alleged obstruction of justice by the president, escalating House Democrats' battle with the Trump administration. Attorney General William Barr has said he plans to release a redacted copy of the report by mid-April, but Democrats have called that insufficient, saying Congress should have access to the full unredacted document as soon as possible.

Lawmakers begin donating contributions from indicted businessman Melanie Zanona, Politico

A growing number of lawmakers are donating the contributions that their political committees received from a recently indicted businessman in North Carolina, the latest fallout from a federal corruption scandal that has roiled the state's GOP. Democrats Race to Close Ranks Ahead of Possible Anti-Semitism Vote Daniel Newhauser, National Journal

House Democrats are fuming as they brace for another Republican-led show-vote on anti-Semitism Thursday when they bring up a Senate-passed resolution calling for the removal of troops from Yemen. Democrats have been circling the wagons and scolding their Republican colleagues in advance of the vote about playing politics with the resolution, which would mark the first time since the War Powers Act was passed in 1973 that Congress would send to the president's desk an order to end an unauthorized war.

Rep. Tim Ryan of Ohio is expected to announce a presidential campaign this week, several sources who have been informed of the Democrat's plans told BuzzFeed News. Ryan is scheduled to appear Thursday on The View, a popular talk show destination for national politicians.

Biden says he'll adjust his physical behavior as three more women come forward

Elise Viebeck et al., The Washington Post

Former vice president Joe Biden promised on Wednesday to adjust his physical behavior toward women, an effort to quell controversy over whether his intimate style is appropriate in the era of the #MeToo movement. Biden addressed critics in a video posted to Twitter as three additional women told The Washington Post on Wednesday about encounters with him that made them feel uncomfortable.

You elected them to write new laws. They're letting corporations do it instead.

Rob O'Dell and Nick Penzenstadler, USA Today

Each year, state lawmakers across the U.S. introduce thousands of bills dreamed up and written by corporations, industry groups and think tanks. Disguised as the work of lawmakers, these so-called "model" bills get copied in one state Capitol after another, quietly advancing the agenda of the people who write them.

US condemns 'broken' Alabama prison system

Kim Chandler and Eric Tucker, The Associated Press

The Justice Department said Wednesday that Alabama is violating the Constitution by failing to protect prison inmates from violence and sexual abuse and housing them in unsafe, overcrowded facilities. The department gave Alabama 49 days to begin to correct the violations or possibly face another federal lawsuit.

States Sue Trump Administration Over Rollback of School-Lunch Nutrition Standards

Michelle Hackman, The Wall Street Journal

Six states and the District of Columbia sued the Trump administration in federal court on Wednesday for attempting to ease school-lunch nutrition standards. The suit is the first challenge against the administration's efforts to undo Obama-era regulations, championed by former first lady Michelle Obama, that restrict the contents of school-provided meals in a bid to make them healthier.

Feds approve Maine's Medicaid expansion plan, unlocking federal funding

Michael Shepherd, Bangor Daily News

The federal Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services has approved Maine's application to expand Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act, Gov. Janet Mills announced on Wednesday, a step confirming retroactive federal funding to cover eligible residents. The step was anticipated by the Democratic governor when she began expanding the program after taking office January while fronting the initial expenses with surplus Medicaid funds before the federal approval of an application submitted under former Gov. Paul LePage.

Could be more indictments,' Causey says as NC GOP deals with indictment fallout

Paul L. Specht et al., The News & Observer

Federal indictments against the chairman of the North Carolina Republican Party, a top political donor and two of his associates on bribery charges could be just the beginning of the scandal that's rocked the state's political landscape once again. "There could be more indictments to come," said Republican Insurance Commissioner Mike Causey, the public official who the four are accused of trying to bribe.

Pork industry soon will have more power over meat inspections

Kimberly Kindy, The Washington Post

The Trump administration plans to shift much of the power and responsibility for food safety inspections in hog plants to the pork industry as early as May, cutting the number of federal inspectors by about 40 percent and replacing them with plant employees. Under the proposed new inspection system, the responsibility for identifying diseased and contaminated pork would be shared with plant employees, whose training would be at the discretion of plant owners.

As it Works to Stifle Primary Challengers, DCCC Takes More Money from Corporate Lobbyists

Alex Kotch, Sludge

Corporate lobbyists are raising an increasing amount of money for the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee (DCCC) at a time when the House Democrats' campaign arm is taking fire from the left for its effort to freeze out primary challengers. Progressives have roundly criticized the DCCC for its plan to not conduct business with political vendors that work for candidates who plan to challenge incumbent Democrats. Rep. Ro Khanna, D-Calif., said the new policy could have prevented him from winning his congressional seat.

Ethical Cloud Hangs Over David Bernhardt Ahead of Confirmation Vote

Brendan Fischer and Delaney Marsco, Morning Consult

The ethical cloud hanging over President Donald Trump's nominee to lead the Department of the Interior, David Bernhardt, raises questions about whether increasingly scarce natural resources will remain protected for the public - or whether the wealthy and well-connected get privileged access. For years, Bernhardt lobbied for the big oil, gas and agricultural interests that he now regulates as the Interior Department's acting secretary.

Michael Bennet has prostate cancer, but he still intends to run for president

Mike Littwin, Colorado Independent

When Michael Bennet's office called to say he had a big announcement to make, I assumed he would be confirming what everyone already knew - that the Colorado senator would be joining John Hickenlooper and the rest of the ever-expanding Democratic field running for president. And, also, that though he understood he would be a long shot, he figured at this point, without a clear favorite, that it could leave an opening for someone like him - the umpteenth senator to announce.

Joe Biden Created the Culture He Is a Target Of Emily Yoffe, Politico

Joe Biden is now living in the world of accusation he helped to create. It is one of peril for the accused, in which they are subjected to expansive definitions of sexual misconduct and little benefit of the doubt.

Subject: Morning Consult Washington: Week in Review & What's Ahead

By Eli Yokley

Week in Review

Congress

- In a 247-175 vote, the House sent a measure to President Donald Trump's desk that would end American involvement in the Saudi-led military campaign in Yemen. Trump is expected to veto the measure, with the White House citing "serious constitutional concerns," and Congress lacks the votes to override it.
- In a 263-158 vote, the House passed legislation to renew the Violence Against Women Act with new provisions that restrict gun ownership and expand transgender rights. The measure was opposed by the National Rifle Association, but 33 Republicans joined all but one Democrat to pass the measure.
- House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Richard Neal (D-Mass.) delivered a letter to the Internal Revenue Service formally requesting six years of Trump's personal returns and some of his business returns. Federal law allows the chairman of the tax-writing committee to seek any person's tax information, but the request is likely to spark a legal fight between Congress and the Trump administration.
- The Senate failed to pass a massive emergency aid bill for victims of hurricanes, wildfires, flooding and other natural disasters amid a fight between Democrats and Trump over relief for Puerto Rico's Hurricane Maria recovery. Democrats argue that the $600 million included for Puerto Rico's food stamp program is inadequate to meet the U.S. territory's needs and backed a House-passed relief bill, while Trump opposes sending any additional aid to Puerto Rico apart from food stamp money.

- Senate Republicans used the "nuclear option" to change the chamber's rules to reduce debate time on most executive nominations, clearing the way for quicker confirmation of Trump's picks. Democrats, who had used the previous rules to delay some of the president's nominees, decried the decision as unnecessary and damaging to Senate precedent.
- Rep. Mark Walker (R-N.C.) is entangled in a federal corruption probe that has led to the indictment of former Rep. Robin Hayes (R-N.C.), who was chairman of the North Carolina Republican Party. An unsealed indictment did not name Walker, but the indictment and Federal Election Commission records show him to have received money from a business owner targeted by the investigation who was trying to pressure the North Carolina Insurance Commissioner to replace his deputy.
- The House Committee on Oversight and Reform authorized subpoenas targeting Attorney General William Barr and Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross over the Trump administration's proposed U.S. Census citizenship question and the alleged abuse of the White House's security clearance policy. The subpoenas will be the second wave from the Oversight Committee so far this Congress, following the approval of subpoenas for Barr, Secretary of Homeland Security Kirstjen Nielsen, and Secretary of Health and Human Services Alex Azar for records on the Trump Administration's child separation policy.
- At least 25 officials were granted security clearances despite "disqualifying issues" in their backgrounds, according to Tricia Newbold, an 18-year government employee who oversees the issuance of clearances for some senior White House aides. The whistleblower detailed her allegations in a letter to House Oversight and Reform Committee Chairman Elijah Cummings (D-Md.).
- House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif) said the House will file a lawsuit to challenge Trump's declaration of a national emergency on the U.S.-Mexico border.

The Trump administration

- Trump backed off his threat to immediately close the U.S.-Mexico border, saying he'll give Mexico a one-year warning to make progress on drugs and migrants. If the country doesn't, Trump said he will impose tariffs on cars and close the border.
- Trump said he'll nominate Herman Cain to the Federal Reserve's board of governors. The nomination of Cain and another Trump pick, Stephen Moore, marks an effort to install two Fed critics and loyal Trump supporters on the central bank's board.
- Trump said he is looking for someone tougher to lead U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement after he unexpectedly withdrew the nomination of Ronald Vitiello, the agency's current acting director. Vitiello's nomination had already cleared one Senate panel with a vote in another expected next week, and the move surprised Republicans in the chamber, who believed Vitiello was on track to be confirmed soon.
- The Federal Bureau of Investigation is leading a probe of possible Chinese espionage targeting Trump and Mar-a-Lago, his private Palm Beach club, according to sources. The counterintelligence investigation has reportedly focused on South Florida massage parlor entrepreneur Li "Cindy" Yang recently, but was supercharged after the Secret Service arrested a woman they say tried to enter the club with several electronic devices, including a thumb drive with "malicious malware," over the weekend.
- The Interior Department's Office of Inspector General is investigating allegations that acting Secretary David Bernhardt may have violated his ethics pledge by weighing in on issues that affect a massive agricultural water district he once lobbied for.
- Trump said on Twitter that the Republican Party's replacement plan for Obamacare is coming after the 2020 election. Trump's declaration comes after the Justice Department sided with efforts to strike down the entire Affordable Care Act last week, and he did not give any details of the plan to replace it.

- Former Vice President Joe Biden was embroiled in a controversy after women accused him of inappropriately touching them in ways that made them feel uncomfortable. In a video, the possible 2020 contender said he is going to be "mindful" of people's boundaries going forward, but on stage at an event in Washington the next day, Biden joked twice about having permission to touch people.

- The controversy has already been embraced by Trump's allies such as the Great America PAC, which has released a "Creepy Joe" Biden ad.
- Rep. Tim Ryan (D-Ohio), a political centrist, announced he will run for president. Ryan kicked off his campaign at a rally with local union leaders in Youngstown, Ohio, a nod to his ties with working-class Americans that he'll likely try to tout in his bid for his party's presidential nomination.
- Stacey Abrams, the Democrat who ran unsuccessfully for governor of Georgia, said she is considering challenging Sen. David Perdue (R-Ga.) for re-election next year, running for president or waiting for a rematch against Gov. Brian Kemp (R-Ga.) in 2022.
- Sen. Joe Manchin (D-W.Va) is considering challenging his state's Republican governor, Jim Justice, next year. Manchin - who narrowly won re-election last year against state Attorney General Patrick Morrisey - said he'll make a decision by the fall.

The investigations

- Some of special counsel Robert Mueller's investigators have told people that the attorney general failed to adequately portray their findings, and that they were more damaging to Trump than his four-page summary let on, according to sources. Barr has said he will move quickly to release the nearly 400-page report after the Justice Department redacts sensitive national security and grand jury information.
- Lawyers for Trump's former personal attorney, Michael Cohen, are offering lawmakers new information in an effort to further delay his prison sentence. In a letter, they told top Democrats that Cohen has discovered files on a hard drive that might be helpful to congressional investigators and asked them to write letters outlining his cooperation, which he could use to push prosecutors for a lesser sentence.
- The House Intelligence Committee is seeking an interview with Stephanie Winston Wolkoff, a former adviser to first lady Melania Trump who served as a top organizer for Trump's inaugural committee, according to sources. The move signals that lawmakers are expanding their investigation into how the inaugural committee raised and spent more than $100 million, as well as its contacts between the inaugural fund and foreign entities.

What's Ahead

- The House and Senate are in session this week.
- The House is set to vote on a net neutrality bill, before Democrats head to their annual retreat in Leesburg, Va.
- The Senate is set to vote to confirm several district judges, an ambassador to Saudi Arabia and a Labor Department nominee.

Satellite images may show reprocessing activity at North Korea nuclear site: U.S. researchers
David Brunnstrom, Reuters

Satellite images from last week show movement at North Korea's main nuclear site that could be associated with the reprocessing of radioactive material into bomb fuel, a U.S. think tank said on Tuesday. Any new reprocessing activity would underscore the failure of a second summit between U.S. President Donald Trump and North Korean leader Kim Jong Un in Hanoi in late February to make progress toward North Korea's denuclearization.

As Mueller report release nears, White House prepares robust response

Katherine Faulders, ABC News

While President Donald Trump and the White House are uncertain about what exactly will be revealed in special counsel Robert Mueller's report when Attorney General William Barr clears its release to the public on Thursday, sources say they are preparing an aggressive response. Sources say the initial response will look much as it did when Mueller first transmitted the report to Barr late last month, which was expressing relief over Barr's general conclusions.

Trump moves to resist House inquiries, setting up fight over congressional subpoena powers

Tom Hamburger et al., The Washington Post

President Trump's attorneys and the White House are moving to resist a growing number of congressional requests for information, increasing the likelihood of a protracted legal fight that could test the power of congressional subpoenas. The building battle will shape how much material House Democrats will be able to obtain about Trump's policies and personal finances through multiple investigations launched by various congressional committees.

White House Rebuffs Lawmaker Demand on Decision to Oppose AT&T Deal

Ben Brody and Billy House, Bloomberg

The White House is refusing requests from two key House Democrats to produce records related to concerns about potential political interference by President Donald Trump in the government's decision to sue to block AT&T Inc.'s $85 billion acquisition of Time Warner. The refusal is the latest escalation in tensions between Trump's administration, which unsuccessfully opposed the combination, and House Judiciary Committee Chairman Jerrold Nadler over the disclosure of information to Congress.

US to allow lawsuits over properties seized by Castro's Cuba
Deb Riechmann and Michael Weissenstein, The Associated Press

Stepping up pressure on Cuba, the Trump administration will allow lawsuits against foreign companies doing business in properties seized from Americans after the island's 1959 revolution, a senior administration official said. The move marks a change in more than two decades of U.S. policy on Cuba.

Trump Stirs Alarm That He May Be Giving China a New Trade Weapon
Shawn Donnan and Jenny Leonard, Bloombreg

High on the list of President Donald Trump's priorities as he tries to close a trade deal with counterpart Xi Jinping is making sure China faces consequences if it doesn't live up to its promises. Yet in pursuing that goal Trump may also be giving China a new cudgel to use on American companies and striking another blow to the international rule of law.

New Whistleblower Protection Office Is Under Investigation for Retaliating Against Whistleblowers
Eric Katz, Government Executive

The Veterans Affairs Department's watchdog is investigating a new office created by President Trump early in his administration that was designed to protect whistleblowers from reprisal but is now facing allegations of aiding retaliation against them. VA's Office of Inspector General is leading the investigation from its new Office of Special Reviews, which the IG created to conduct "prompt reviews of significant events" and examine allegations of senior VA employee misconduct, an IG spokesman said.

U.S. open to new path towards removing Sudan from terrorism list - official
Patrick Werr, Reuters

The United States will consider new ways to remove Sudan from its list of state sponsors of terrorism if it sees a fundamental change in its government and a commitment not to support terrorism, a State Department official said. The U.S. government added Sudan to its list of terrorism in 1993 over allegations that then-President Omar al-Bashir's government was supporting terrorism.

Senate

GOP senators double down on demand for Clinton email probe documents

Jordain Carney, The Hill

A trio of top Republican senators are doubling down on their demand for the Justice Department to hand over information on the handling of the probe into Hillary Clinton's private email server. Sens. Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.), Ron Johnson (R-Wis.) and Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) - the chairmen of the Judiciary, Homeland Security and Finance committees, respectively - sent a letter Tuesday to Attorney General William Barr arguing that now that special counsel Robert Mueller's probe has wrapped up, the department should hand over the requested documents.

House

Democrats could subpoena Mueller report redactions as soon as Friday

Karoun Demirjian, The Washington Post

The House Judiciary Committee is expected to subpoena the Justice Department for special counsel Robert S. Mueller III's complete report as soon as Friday, according to a spokesman, as Democrats prepare to fight the Trump administration for access to the attorney general's anticipated redactions. Committee Chairman Jerrold Nadler (D-N.Y.) has refrained from issuing subpoenas for the report and the testimony of individuals questioned during Mueller's investigation - including former White House counsel Donald McGahn and former White House communications director Hope Hicks - until Attorney General William P. Barr releases the report Thursday.

GOP congressman warns fellow Republicans: Be careful messing with Ocasio-Cortez

Lesley Clark, McClatchy DC

A Kentucky Republican congressman is warning his colleagues that if they mess with Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, they could be inviting trouble. "A lot of Republicans are making a mistake picking on her," said Rep. James Comer.

For Democrats, Ilhan Omar Is a Complicated Figure to Defend Sheryl Gay Stolberg, The New York Times

When President Trump tweeted an edited video portraying Representative Ilhan Omar as playing down the 9/11 attacks, it took less than three hours for Senator Bernie Sanders to rush to her defense and declare her "a leader with strength and courage." But when a Fox News anchor described Mr. Sanders on Monday night as "a staunch supporter" of Ms. Omar, the senator balked.

2020

Seth Moulton tapes 2020 launch video Mike Allen, Axios

Rep. Seth Moulton (D-Mass.) was spotted in his hometown of Marblehead, Mass., taping for a presidential announcement that's expected within a week, according to a source close to Moulton. The big picture: Moulton's key issues will be foreign policy, national security and defense.

Biden, at Hollings Funeral, Talks About How 'People Can Change' Jonathan Martin, The New York Times

Former Vice President Joseph R. Biden Jr. on Tuesday remembered Ernest F. Hollings as "a giant in this state and nation" who evolved to "write the great story of our times." Speaking at the funeral of Mr. Hollings, the former South Carolina senator who died this month at 97, Mr. Biden hailed his longtime friend and former colleague, a one-time segregationist, as the embodiment of this state's growth.

Gillibrand backs challenger to antiabortion House Democrat David Weigel, The Washington Post

Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand of New York is endorsing a Democratic challenger to Rep. Daniel Lipinski (D-Ill.), making her the first presidential contender to wade into a down-ballot Democratic primary. At a Democratic Party event in Chicago, Gillibrand endorsed Marie Newman, a liberal activist who narrowly lost to Lipinski in 2018.

A Long Talk With Jay Inslee Gabriel Debenedetti, New York Magazine

Voters, says Washington governor Jay Inslee, the only climate-first candidate in the 2020 presidential race, "are thirsting for information about the candidates." It's early on a Thursday, and Inslee has already appeared on both TV and radio this morning in New York, after headlining a CNN town hall late the night before in Washington.

John Walsh, former U.S. attorney, joins Senate race against Cory Gardner

Justin Wingerter, The Denver Post

Former U.S. Attorney John Walsh said early Tuesday that he is running for U.S. Senate, becoming the second Democrat in as many days to join an ever-growing field of candidates. In a campaign kickoff video posted to social media, Walsh recalled his time growing up in Colorado, his six-year tenure as the top federal prosecutor in the state and his charity work.

GOP Ramps Up Senate Super PAC Machine

Lachlan Markay, The Daily Beast

The Republican Party's outside spending apparatus is kicking into gear ahead of efforts to flip some key Senate seats in next year's election and defend a pair of vulnerable incumbents. The GOP's top donors are already stepping up to finance the effort. In February, Illinois industrial supply magnate Richard Uihlein wrote a half-million-dollar check to Americas PAC, a leading Republican super PAC focusing on key 2020 senate races, according to a Federal Election Commission filing this week.

Roy Moore leads in early 2020 Alabama Senate poll

Howard Koplowitz, AL.com

He is still on the sidelines, but ex-Alabama Supreme Court Chief Justice Roy Moore would be the frontrunner in the 2020 Republican Senate primary a little less than a year out from the contest, according to a poll released Tuesday. The Mason-Dixon poll of 400 registered Alabama voters who identify as Republican showed Moore with 27 percent support, followed by U.S. Rep. Mo Brooks, R-Huntsville, at 18 percent, and the only declared candidate, Republican Congressman Bradley Byrne of Fairhope, at 13 percent.

Not a Single Human Being Donated to Embattled Rep. Chris Collins' Campaign

Lachlan Markay, The Daily Beast

Not a single human being donated to Rep. Chris Collins' (R-N.Y.) reelection campaign in the first three months of 2019. Collins, who is facing federal securities fraud charges, brought in just $5,000 in the first quarter of the year, according to a filing with the Federal Election Commission this week.

States

Fundraising dries up for Virginia's three tainted leaders, but not for their fellow Democrats

Laura Vozzella, The Washington Post

Fundraising took a dive for Virginia's top three Democrats after they were mired in separate scandals early this year, but Democrats running in legislative races still raised substantially more than Republicans, according to first-quarter fundraising reports released Tuesday. Gov. Ralph Northam and Attorney General Mark R. Herring have raised $2,500 and $17,250 respectively since admitting in the first week of February that they had worn blackface as young men.

Congestion Pricing Is Coming to New York. New Jersey Wants Revenge.

Emma G. Fitzsimmons, The New York Times

New York and New Jersey are neighbors, but they have not always treated each other in a neighborly way. Their proximity and pride have led to plenty of fights - over who can lay claim to Ellis Island (both actually), which state has the best pizza (still raging) and the proper way to get gasoline (solo vs. full service).

Advocacy

The Rematch: Bernie Sanders vs. a Clinton Loyalist

Elizabeth Williamson and Kenneth P. Vogel, The New York Times

The bad blood started early. In 2008, Neera Tanden, then a top aide on Hillary Clinton's first presidential campaign, accompanied Mrs. Clinton to what was expected to be an easy interview at the Center for American Progress, the influential group founded by top Clinton aides.

Mining project on federal lands hires former Interior head Ellen Knickmeyer and Matthew Brown, The Associated Press

Former Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke has a new job: a more than $100,000-a-year post with a gold-mining firm that's pursuing project approvals involving the federal agency that Zinke left fewer than four months ago. Zinke told The Associated Press on Tuesday that his work for Nevada-based U.S. Gold Corp., which focuses on mining exploration and development, would not constitute lobbying.

He is an independent who insists that the American people are far less divided than the American Congress. He claims to speak for a silent, bipartisan majority that longs for common-sense solutions to our nation's problems - and is sick and tired of the media's divisiveness and triviality. Despite his longtime ties to the Democrats, he holds both parties responsible for the public's declining faith in government.

YEMEN CRISIS: The case for ending U.S. military support of the Saudi-UAE-led coalition's intervention Enea Gjoza and Benjamin H. Friedman, Defense Priorities

The outcome of Yemen's disastrous civil war has little bearing on core U.S. interests-on the safety and material well-being of Americans. In fact, aiding the Saudi and UAE-led military campaign actually harms other U.S. interests. The Saudi-UAE-led military campaign has inflicted vast suffering on Yemeni civilians.

New Study on Economic Impact of EB-5 Regional Center Program

IIUSA and The EB-5 Investment Coalition (EB-5IC) recently released a new study on the economic impact of the EB-5 Regional Center Program. Their report details finding a total of $10.98 billion of capital investment in EB-5 projects throughout the U.S. supported more 355,000 U.S. jobs, roughly 6 percent of all job gains over a two-year period. The study also revealed that the regional center program contributed more than $23 billion in labor income to the U.S. economy and resulted in nearly $55 billion-or 3 percent-added to U.S. economic output. Day 802: Meaningless.

1/ Senior Trump administration officials overturned and granted at least 25 security clearances – including two current senior White House officials – to people who were initially denied by career employees for "serious disqualifying issues" in their backgrounds. Tricia Newbold, a whistleblower working in the White House Personnel Security Office, told the House Oversight and Reform Committee that she warned her superiors that clearances "were not always adjudicated in the best interest of national security." Oversight Committee chairman Elijah Cummings said he was prepared to authorize subpoenas to compel the White House to comply with an investigation into whether national secrets were at risk. Newbold claims she was retaliated against for declining to issue security clearances, including being suspended without pay for 14 days. (New York Times / Washington Post / Politico / Associated Press / CNN / Wall Street Journal)

2/ The House Judiciary Committee plans to vote to authorize subpoenas to obtain Robert Mueller's full report. Attorney General William Barr pledged to release a redacted version of the report by mid-April. Chairman Jerry Nadler, however, wants the "full and complete report," which spans nearly 400 pages, as well as underlying evidence. (Washington Post / CNN)

3/ Trump called the 2020 census "meaningless" if it doesn't include a citizenship question that two federal judges have already ruled against. The Supreme Court is expected to rule on whether Commerce Secretary

Wilbur Ross' decision to add the citizenship question violated federal law by June. (Washington Post / Politico / Reuters)

4/ Trump plans to cut hundreds of millions of dollars in foreign assistance programs for Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador. Democrats called the move "short-sighted and flawed," "reckless," and "counterproductive" to reducing the flow of migrants to the U.S. border. The move affects nearly $500 million in 2018 funds earmarked for Central America but has not yet been spent. (Politico / NBC News / Washington Post)
Trump is considering bringing on a "immigration czar" to coordinate policies across various federal agencies. Trump is reportedly considering former Kansas Secretary of State Kris Kobach and former Virginia Attorney General Ken Cuccinelli. (Associated Press)

5/ The White House reiterated Trump's threat to close the U.S. border with Mexico, despite warnings that the move would do little to slow migrants trying to enter the U.S. "It certainly isn't a bluff," Kellyanne Conway said. "You can take the president seriously." Mexico is America's third-largest trading partner and closing the border would cause immediate economic damage. (Washington Post / NBC News)

?? Day 799: Trump repeated his threat to close the U.S.-Mexico border as early as "next week" if the Mexican government doesn't "immediately" stop all undocumented migrants crossing into the U.S., saying he's "not playing games." Trump has repeatedly threatened to close the border, but he's never attached a specific timetable. (CNN / New York Times / Washington Post / ABC News / Vox)

Nearly half of all imported U.S. vegetables and 40% of imported fruit are grown in Mexico. American would run out of avocados in three weeks if imports from Mexico were stopped. (NBC News)

"Fox and Friends" described Guatemala, El Salvador, and Honduras as "3 Mexican Countries" while discussing the Trump administration's decision to cut aid to the so-called Northern Triangle. (Mother Jones)

poll/ 29% of Americans believe Trump has been cleared of wrongdoing, based on what they have heard about Attorney General William Barr summary of Robert Mueller's report. 40% do not believe he has been cleared and 31% are not sure if he's has been cleared. (NBC News / Wall Street Journal) poll/ 38% believe no additional investigation is needed after Mueller delivered his report to Barr – down two percentage points from before Mueller delivered his report on the Russia investigation. (Lawfare)

Notables.

Trump is reportedly telling people he is "saving" Judge Amy Barrett for Ruth Bader Ginsburg's seat. Barrett's past academic writings suggest an openness to overturning Roe v. Wade. (Axios)

The White House claimed that Republicans are "working on a plan" to replace the Affordable Care Act. Senate Republicans were caught off guard last week by Trump's declaration that the Republican Party "will soon be known as the party of health care." Before his inauguration in 2017, Trump claimed his plan for replacing most of the ACA was nearly finished. (Washington Post)

White House chief of staff Mick Mulvaney guaranteed that Americans would not lose their health insurance coverage if the Affordable Care Act was declared unconstitutional. Mulvaney promised that a replacement plan for the ACA would include protections more than 60 million Americans with pre-existing conditions. (USA Today)

More than 750,000 people would likely lose their food stamps under a new proposal by the Trump administration to encourage able-bodied adults to get a job. The administration wants to stop food stamps after three months for able-bodied adults without dependents who don't work, volunteer or get job training for at least 20 hours a week. (NPR)

A federal judge declared that Trump's order to open oil and gas drilling in the Arctic and Atlantic oceans is illegal. The decision puts 128 million acres of federal waters off limits to energy exploration. (Washington Post)

A Connecticut woman accused Joe Biden of inappropriately touching her at a political fundraiser in 2009. The accusation comes three days after a former Nevada state lawmaker accused Biden of an "awkward kiss" at a campaign rally when she was the state's Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor in 2014. (Politico / New York Times / Hartford Courant)

A group of Senate Democrats will introduce a constitutional amendment to abolish the Electoral College this week. A constitutional amendment can be proposed by a two-thirds supermajority in both the House (~290 votes) and Senate (67 votes) and requires ratification by 38 states. (NBC News / Politico / Daily Beast)

Trump has made at least 9,451 false or misleading claims since taking office. Trump is making roughly 22 false or misleading claims a day – up from his average of nearly 5.9 false or misleading claims a day during his first year in office. (Washington Post)

Federal Judge Rules Flint Citizens Can Sue the Federal EPA-- "Lies, Recklessness, and Profound Disrespect"

Judge Linda Parker of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan ruled on April 18 that people; citizens of Flint, Michigan are free to sue the federal government over its mishandling of the city's water problems.

Judge Parker uses strong words about action, or lack of action, of the Obama Administration's EPA. Said Judge Parker, "The court can state with certainty that the acts leading to the creation of the Flint Water Crisis, alleged to be rooted in lies, recklessness, and profound disrespect have and will continue to produce a heinous impact for the people of Flint."

It was two years ago that Flint residents sued the EPA for "mishandling" the Flint water crisis and failing to utilize the Safe Drinking Water Act to intervene and protect residents of Flint and citizens of the United States. Approximately 3,000 people are named in the lawsuit, which the government has sought to dismiss. Judge Parker's ruling does not necessarily find any federal employees negligent, but it does mean the government is not immune from a lawsuit.

Attorney Michael, representing Flint residents in the lawsuit said that the EPA today seems confident that they are going to get the case dismissed but he did say that "we are now in a position where the EPA will have to make another assessment of their responsibility for the harm they caused."

Approximately 100,000 people in Flint were exposed to lead in their drinking water in 2014 after the Michigan EPA and the administration of then-Governor Rick Snyder switched the area's water source in an effort to save costs. Later, an outbreak of Legionnaires disease has been connected to the deaths of at least a dozen people.

At that time, the Mayor of Flint was not elected but was appointed because the city was in receivership. Judge Parker noted that the federal, state, and local employees were aware of the contamination but did not warn the people even as they were "poisoned", Judge Parker, an Obama appointee, noted in her ruling.

In June of 2015, Miguel del Toral, in an internal memo, was the whistleblower who expressed deep concern about Flint drinking water. He pleaded with officials to do additional water testing. He wrote, "At a minimum, the city should be warning residents about the high lead, not hiding it, telling them there is no lead in the water." His concerns were ignored by his supervisors at the federal level as well as the state level. The EPA Administrator of Region 5 resigned during this period.

The recent ruling from Judge Parker comes at a time when the fallout from Flint's water crisis continues to affect all levels of government.

In January, an appeals court ruled that the city is not immune from federal civil lawsuits. Michigan's State Health Director is set to stand trial for involuntary manslaughter over two deaths linked to the water crisis. Court cases are also pending against other city and state officials as Flint residents continue to seek accountability, including against former Governor Snyder.

Today, Michigan says and argues that Flint drinking water is safe. Flint residents disagree and say there are still cases of people breaking out in rashes. Many residents still do not believe the government has effectively fixed the problem. Today, reports indicate many Flint residents still rely on bottled water over filtered tap water due to the fear of lead and concern for their safety.

During the time of the crisis, Karen Weaver, the current Mayor, ran as a reform candidate for mayor to deal with the water crisis. Then-Conference President and former Baltimore Mayor Stephanie Rawlings-Blake appointed a special task force to have the mission to go to Flint to assist the new Mayor, Karen Weaver, as she was faced with faulty information and resistance from the state and federal government to face up to the negligence that became apparent through our visits, the media, and Congressional hearings on the crisis. Former Atlanta Mayor Shirley Franklin, representatives of the Conference of Mayors' Water Council and I, along with Conference staff spent considerable time on this issue and we continue to support Mayor Weaver who has been an incredible leader for her city and its people while she faces this crisis that continues today.

On a regular basis, we continue to learn of lead exposure throughout the nation and as an organization, we are doing our best to advocate to our federal government and Congress that safe drinking water is a top priority for our nation.

Louisville Mayor Fischer: Mayor's Give A Day Week of Service

When Conference Second Vice President Louisville Mayor Greg Fischer took office in 2011, he set three goals for Louisville focused on improving the core pillars of community life. He said we must become a city of lifelong learning, a healthier city, and a city of even greater compassion.

The Mayor's Give A Day Week of Service, a partnership with Louisville Metro United Way, is the signature piece of the compassion goal.

Each spring, community and corporate volunteers across Louisville commit selfless acts of compassion. Neighbors clean up streets and parks, students collect goods for people in need, and community leaders donate blood, and repair homes. They read to students, mentor, assemble care packages – and much more. Though these good deeds happen in Louisville throughout the year, Give A Day puts the needs and the benefits into focus, lifting citizens in need and setting a lasting tone of compassion for the entire city.

So far this week, Give A Day volunteers have joined more than 2,500 young people to Walk for Compassion, made 3,000 breakfast burritos for local food pantries, built 158 beds for children who otherwise don't have one, and nearly 20,000 people have cleaned up our parks and neighborhoods.

Give A Day 2018 supported the Louisville community with more than 205,000 volunteers and acts of compassion and 2019 is shaping up to be the biggest yet.

Here's a Fact.

On this day, April 23, 1564, William Shakespeare was born. He is credited and widely regarded as the greatest writer in the English language. His works consist of 38 plays, 154 sonnets, 2 long narrative poems, and other verses. His works have been translated into every major living language and are performed more often than those of any other playwright in the world.

At 18, he married Anne Hathway with whom he had 3 children, Susana, and twins Hammet, and Judith.

It was between 1585 and 1592 that he began a successful career as an actor, writer, and part-owner to a playing company known as King's Men. He retired to Stratford at age 49 where he died three years later at age 53.

Trump's Legal End Game: Run Out The Clock Until 2020

With his latest push against congressional investigations of his finances, his response to the Russia investigation and other actions by the White House, President Donald Trump appears to be trying to run out the clock before the 2020 election rather than waging a substantive legal fight likely to prevail in court.

Trump Takes Aim At Huawei, Paves Way For Ban Of Foreign Telecom Equipment Richard Gonzales, NPR News

President Trump signed an executive order Wednesday designed to bar U.S. telecommunications networks from using equipment from foreign suppliers, a move apparently targeting Chinese telecom giant Huawei. The order declares a "national emergency" and says that "foreign adversaries are increasingly creating and exploiting vulnerabilities in information and communications technology and services" and committing economic and industrial espionage against the U.S.

Trump draws public into bias feud with social media firms Steven Overly and Alexandra S. Levine, Politico

The Trump administration is asking social media users to report directly to the White House if they believe companies like Facebook and Twitter have punished them for their political views, further elevating one of the president's new favorite conservative rallying cries that's likely to follow him onto the campaign trail. In an online form shared with the White House's 18.5 million Twitter followers on Wednesday, the administration asks people to "share your story" of political bias directly with the president.

Trump Wall Funding Plan Takes Shape as Court Showdown Looms

Kartikay Mehrotra, Bloomberg

The Trump administration unveiled a multi-tiered plan to pay for construction of a Mexico border wall two days before foes urge a judge to block the re-allocation of funds not authorized by Congress. The government intends to begin awarding the latest tranche of contracts Thursday, drawing on $2.5 billion from the Defense Department, primarily from budgets for drug interdiction and counter-drug activities, the Justice Department said in a court filing Wednesday.

Jordain Carney, The Hill

The Senate on Wednesday confirmed a controversial nominee to the San Francisco-based 9th Circuit Court of Appeals over the objections of both home-state senators. Senators voted 52-45 on Kenneth Lee's nomination to the influential appeals court, giving President Trump his 40th circuit judge since taking office.

House

House Democrats fall in line with Pelosi's no-impeachment strategy despite Trump's defiance

Rachael Bade and Mike DeBonis, The Washington Post

President Trump, who is refusing to cooperate with more than 20 congressional investigations, instructed current and former aides Wednesday to ignore a House committee's request for documents in the latest act of defiance that has prompted Democrats to declare the nation is facing a constitutional crisis. But House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) told Democrats in a closed-door caucus meeting Wednesday morning to stick to their policy agenda ahead of the 2020 election rather than initiate impeachment proceedings.

Amy Klobuchar announced her run for president last February while standing outside in the middle of a snowstorm. It was a badge of honor for the third-term Minnesota senator and native of the state, a metaphor for her midwestern common sense and effectiveness during one of the most unsettling times in American political history.

Tulsi Gabbard Says She Would Drop Julian Assange Charges and Pardon Edward Snowden
Jason Murdock, Newsweek

Representative Tulsi Gabbard, a Democratic presidential candidate, said the U.S. should drop criminal charges against Julian Assange and Edward Snowden. The military veteran said during a lengthy interview on the Joe Rogan Experience podcast this week that WikiLeaks founder Assange and national security whistleblower Snowden should not be prosecuted for disclosing information.

Howard Schultz delays decision on 2020, Biden the factor
Charlie Gasparino and Lydia Moynihan, Fox News

Billionaire businessman and former Starbucks chief executive has delayed his decision on whether to run for president as an independent as he assesses the possibility of former Vice President Joe Biden capturing the Democratic nomination, FOX Business has learned. If Biden, a moderate liberal who is friendly to business, emerged as the likely Democratic nominee, this would be a significant impediment to Schultz running for president since his campaign would focus on similar issues to Biden's, according to two people with direct knowledge of Schultz's thinking.

California's Largest Utility Caused The State's Deadliest And Most Destructive Wildfire, Officials Say Brianna Sacks, BuzzFeed News

Fire officials have determined that California's largest utility, Pacific Gas & Electric, is responsible for sparking the deadliest and most destructive wildfire in state history. Six months after the Camp fire tore through Butte County in Northern California, nearly leveling the town of Paradise, Cal Fire investigators confirmed Wednesday, "after a very meticulous and thorough investigation," what had all but been conceded: PG&E electrical transmission lines in the nearby community of Pulga sparked the blaze.

North Carolina sues e-cigarette maker Juul over marketing Amanda Morris, The Associated Press

North Carolina's attorney general has filed a lawsuit against a popular e-cigarette maker, asking a court to limit what flavors it can sell and ensure underage teens can't buy it. Josh Stein, the top law enforcement official in the traditional tobacco-producing state, said in announcing his lawsuit Wednesday he's the first state attorney general to take the maker of Juul to court.

Michigan Republican lawmaker Larry Inman accused of trying to sell his vote

Paul Egan and Kathleen Gray, Detroit Free Press

A state representative has been indicted by a federal grand jury, accused of trying to sell his vote on a measure to repeal Michigan's prevailing wage law. Rep. Larry Inman, R-Traverse City, was indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Grand Rapids, court records show.

Kasich adviser will lobby against potential Russia sanctions
Theodoric Meyer, Politico

John Weaver, the top strategist for John Kasich's presidential campaign in 2016, has registered as a foreign agent and plans to lobby against potential sanctions on Russia. Weaver signed a contract last month to lobby on behalf of the Tenam Corporation, a subsidiary of Rosatom, the Russian state-owned nuclear energy company.
